Veterans want memorial

Town Meeting

By Lisa Boudreau

The town's Patriotic Committee wants voters at Town Meeting, Monday April 13, to allocate money to fund initial construction of a veterans' memorial on the green at Elm Square.

Article 22, if passed, would transfer $33,000, which is already in an ear-marked account for veterans, to begin the memorial, said John Doherty, 69 Carmel Road, a member of the town committee.

"What we want to do is build a peace memorial to any veteran who served to defend this country. That would mean National Guards, reservists, as well as the regular servicemen and -women," said

Three arrested at gun point in Elm Square

By Don Staruk

Three New York men were arrested at gunpoint just outside Elm Square Monday afternoon shortly after they allegedly pushed a fourth man from a car on Reservation Road. They allegedly beat him before pushing him from the car, in an effort to recover drug money, according to Andover police.

Patrolman Henry Picard, on a tip from a female motorist, found Leo Mondragon, 47, of Flushing, N.Y. on the side of the road with a broken leg and "pretty well beat up," at 1:49 p.m., according to Detective Kevin Winters.

Mr. Mondragon told police he

The Master Plan is near completion

By Don Staruk

It appears the Planning Board will live up to its vow to adopt a new Master Plan prior to April Town Meeting.

"I think we're pretty well done," John O'Brien, Planning Board chairman, said this week.

Only a final section on the planners' conclusions and recommendations were still being reviewed this week.

A public discussion and review of the various elements of the Master Plan is scheduled for Tuesday, March 10, at 7:30 p.m., in town offices. A vote on

Still seeking a new Senior Center location

By Lisa Boudreau

The Board of Selectmen told the School Committee Monday night it would like to help ease elementary school overcrowding by relocating the Senior Center so that a 450-student central elementary school can be put in its place. But School Committee members said it will be difficult to find a new location for the center in the time frame the committee wants.

Demystifying a sometimes taboo subject: sex, sexuality

By Lisa Boudreau

Talking about sex and sexuality can be very difficult, according to Sean Gresh, who has written about these and other tough subjects for the past two decades. Dr. Gresh, 82 Elm St., believes Tell It Like It Is:

Straight Talk About Sex, a book he developed and helped research, is a vehicle for open discussion that demystifies what for some is still a taboo subject.

"Our goal was to create a dialogue for young adults. We Andover emergency medical technicians and two patrolmen attend to Leo Mondragon, 47, of Flushing, N.Y., who was found on Reservation Road, having allegedly been beaten and thrown from a vehicle, which was soon pulled over by Andover police.

3 arrested at gun point

Several officers were at the scene on Reservation Road assisting the ambulance when officer David St. Jean spotted a brown Datsun and three possible suspects on Essex Street near Dundee Park. The three appeared to be asking directions and one had on a white baseball cap.

Officer St. Jean called for backup and followed the car to the lights at Elm Square. Four other officers in two unmarked cruisers pulled into the Village Annex Texaco station on North Main Street to watch which way the suspects would go. The suspects turned onto North Main Street and into the Texaco and the arms of the waiting police.

"I've never seen eyes that wide in my life," Detective Winters said.

The four officers, guns drawn, ordered the three men to get out of the car and lie face down on the ground. Mr. Mondragon later picked their pictures out as the men who had attacked him.

Arrested and charged with kidnapping and assault with intent to murder were Faber Octavio Garcia, also known as Faber Octavio Ramirez, 22, of Queens, N.Y., Jose Amable Perez, 27, of Brooklyn, N.Y., and Rodriguez Manuel Sanchez, 29, of Brooklyn and Puerto Rico.

At least one of the men, Mr. Garcia, is an illegal alien from Columbia and is deportable, according to Detective Winters. Mr. Perez is also suspected to be an illegal alien from Santo Domingo in the Dominican Republic. Mr. Sanchez is from Puerto Rico. Mr. Mondragon is also from Columbia.

The three suspects were held without bail overnight at the Andover police station and were arraigned in Lawrence District Court Tuesday.

allegedly told police he was involved in drug trafficking and his Flushing, N.Y., home was a "safe house" used for money transactions, according to Detective Winters. He allegedly skimmed about $200,000 from the drug transactions and fled to Malden where he was staying in a hotel.

The three suspects and one other man, all allegedly working for drug traffickers, found Mr. Mondragon and took him to another Malden motel where he was tied up, beaten and threatened with electrocution and a handgun for more than 24 hours.

Most of the money was taken back from Mr. Mondragon and the fourth man left for New York with the money and the handgun.

The three suspects then allegedly drove around with Mr. Mondragon until they pushed him out of the car in Andover, breaking his leg in the fall. Mr. Mondragon is allegedly related to some of the drug traffickers and that probably saved his life, Detective Winters said.

"I think he's very lucky he wasn't murdered," the detective said.

The brown Datsun was at first reported as stolen, but that report turned out to have been an old report. The car was actually borrowed from a cousin of one of the suspects, who lives in Lowell.

New York raid

Working with information from Andover police, New York police raided Mr. Mondragon's safe house and recovered $32,000 Monday night, according to Detective Winters.

Patrolmen St. Jean and Picard and detectives James Haggerty and Kevin Burke are investigating.

NEWS IN BRIEF

School candidates debate tonight

Candidates for School Committee at the March 23 town election will debate and speak on the issues Thursday, Feb. 27, at 7:30 p.m. in the gymnasium at Shawsheen School.

FinCom to discuss budget

The Finance Committee has divided into subcommittees to look at the budgets of each town department. The FinCom will discuss a different aspect of the budget at its weekly meetings every Wednesday night until town meeting.

The FinCom meets Wednesdays in town offices at 7:30 p.m.

The FinCom is scheduled to complete discussion and send its report to the printers by March 20, for an April 3 mailing to residents. Town Meeting begins Monday night, April 13.

The members of each subcommittee, and scheduled weekly discussions, are as follows.

• General Government and Municipal Maintenance

• Public Works and Community Development and Planning

• Public Safety and Library

Donald Schroeder*, Fred Fitzgerald and Don Robb;

• Schools

Joanne Marden*, Donald Schroeder, Ed Weil, Fred Stott and Don Robb; * Indicates subcommittee chairman.

Budget discussion schedule

March 4 - Schools;

March 11 - Public forum.

Dems to caucus

There will be a caucus of registered Democrats to elect delegates to the Democratic State Convention, which will be held in May. The caucus will be held Saturday, Feb. 29, at 2 p.m. at Andover High School's cafeteria. Those wishing to be elected delegates must be present.

On the same day at the same place, at 3 p.m., the Town Democratic Committee will hold a meeting to elect delegates to a Senate District Conference, which will be held April 11. Delegates to that conference will vote to elect state committee persons. Any registered Democrat as of Dec. 31, 1991, may choose to run as a delegate. Voting is done by Town Committee members.

Cholesterol clinic

The Andover Board of Health will hold a cholesterol screening clinic Wednesday, March 11, 9 a.m.-noon. An appointment is necessary.

The simple fingerstick test for total cholesterol costs $5 and does not require fasting. The program includes dietary counseling by the public health nurse. For further information or an appointment, call the health department at 470-3800, Ext. 255.

Cleaning up town

The town of Andover and the Greater Lawrence Environmental Network (GLEN) have placed giant maps of Andover in Old Town Hall and Memorial Hall Library. The maps show which areas residents have volunteered to clear of litter when Andover celebrates Earth Day Saturday, April 11. The maps will be continually updated and ultimately the colorful "adopted" regions should merge to blanket the town's entire area.

Littering has been a problem in Andover for many years. According to Juliet Haines Mofford's book, AVIS - A History in Conservation, the Andover Village Improvement Society drew attention to unsanitary conditions in town in 1894 and called for storekeepers to stop throwing trash into the street.

"The society then organized a systematic program 'to clear streets of rubbish and unsightly objects.'"

Nearly 20 years later, AVIS introduced a townwide litter cleanup.

"April 18-25, 1915, was declared cleanup week. Enthusiasm was aroused through the schools. Local organizations joined the efforts, particularly the Boy Scouts, active in Andover since 1910." Local companies participated by cleaning industrial areas.

Andover is again in need of a thorough cleaning. Volunteers should contact the Department of Community Services at 479-3800, Ext. 280, or visit town offices and the library where information sheets are available.

The League is studying water

Under the leadership of Chairperson Gina Riddiford, the Andover League of Women Voters has been studying the water situation in Andover and projections for future decades. This group of environmentally-concerned citizens has been meeting on a monthly basis to investigate Andover's water needs well into the next century, the policy of selling surplus water to water-poor communities, the on-going cleanup of the town's main water source, the Merrimack River, and the Boston Harbor Cleanup plans in Andover's neighboring water district.

The Water Resources Committee of the Andover League of Women Voters will meet Wednesday, March 18, at 7:30 p.m. at Ms. Riddiford's to continue the study. For further information, call her at 475-5258. New members are welcome.

The committee has studied the video Downstream - the Merrimack River, underwritten by Raytheon Corp., which traces the history, industrial uses and continuing need for protecting the water source for many communities in two states.

Recently, Andover resident Theda Leonard, assistant director of public affairs of Massachusetts Water Resource Authority, which is charged with cleaning up Boston Harbor, spoke about the construction of the Deer Island primary and secondary water treatment plants, the underharbor tunnels to transport waste and the financing by the communities of the MDC District.

Burn victim is improving

Doctors this week increased burn victim John Benson's chance of survival from one-in-10 to 50-50, according to Susan Benson, his mother.

Mr. Benson, 19, of 55 Lowell St., was burned on over 88 percent of his body when his car went off Interstate 93 northbound just before the Lowell Street exit at about 4 a.m. on Wednesday, Jan. 15.

The 1991 Andover High School graduate was taken to the University of Massachusetts Medical Center in Worcester where he remains in critical condition. He has an infection in his blood and pneumonia, but is improving, according to his mother. He took two steps Sunday and has been sitting in a chair a couple of hours every day.

"And he's complaining. I figure that's a good sign," Ms. Benson said.

Mr. Benson was undergoing more surgery on Tuesday of this week. His back has begun to healed itself but will also need more surgery.

The only parts of his body not burned were his face, armpits and a swath across his chest, according to his mother. In a best case scenario, her son will be home in six months, she said, though he will continue to need skin operations after that.

And he will have no disabling handicaps.

"Nothing is permanently damaged," she said.

Mr. Benson is still using a lot of blood and continued blood donations would be appreciated, his mother said.

Donors can give at U-Mass, where the donor center is open until 8:30 p.m. on Wednesdays, or locally, at the Red Cross, 100 Milk St., Methuen, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, 1-8 p.m., and 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday. Donors must be 18 years old, or 17 with permission, weigh at least 110 pounds, and be healthy.

See page 8 for news of a local restaurant holding a fund-raiser for Mr. Benson on Monday.

No vote yet, but FinCom says: 'Keep recycling'

Finance Committee discusses Fiscal Year 1993

By Don Staruk

Cutting the curbside recycling program next year to reduce the solid waste budget would be a move backward, according to Donald Robb, Finance Committee chairman.

"I don't think the community would be interested in following that avenue," Mr. Robb said Monday.

Recycling and the recession have reduced the amount of solid waste going to the trash-to-energy incinerator in North Andover below Andover's 13,000-ton annual minimum. Because Andover has a put-or-pay contract with the operator of the incinerator, the recycling program has become an added expense rather than a cost reduction.

But Buzz Stapczynski, town manager, and Robert McQuade, DPW director, have stated their support for maintaining the recycling program as a long-term investment. And, although no vote was taken on the issue, FinCom members last week also showed no inclination to cut the recycling program, Mr. Robb said.

The recycling issue was discussed by the FinCom last Wednesday night, Feb. 19, during the committee's review of the town manager's proposed fiscal '93 budgets for the departments of Public Works and Community Development and Planning.

'I don't think it's unreasonable (not to give base raises), given the state of the economy. Other towns have done it.'

The FinCom discussed the general government, library and public safety budgets at previous meetings. A discussion on the Municipal Maintenance budget was scheduled for Wednesday, Feb. 26, after the Townsmen went to press.

The schools budget discussion will be held Wednesday, March 4, followed by a public forum on the entire budget on Wednesday, March 11. The budget will be voted on at Town Meeting, which begins Monday night, April 13.

FinCom members have broken into subcommittees to examine each department's budget, but are only discussing and asking questions and are not making specific suggestions or taking any votes at this point, according to Mr. Robb.

"We haven't made any decisions on any of the budgets yet," Mr. Robb said.

One item being looked at in the Fire Department budget is the cost of maintenance for the specialized heavy equipment. The new fire trucks require specialized service and sharing the cost of that service with area towns, by sharing the cost of a mechanic, could reduce the expense.

FinCom members have also asked Community Development and Planning department heads to compare the fee structure of services provided by the town to see if the fees are comparable to other towns or if they should be increased.

The FinCom had not received the schools budget on Monday, but Mr. Robb expected to get it next week.

No pay raises

The town manager's budget does not include any base pay increases for town employees next year, but does include step-and-track increases.

Step-and-track are pay incentives given in many departments for length of service, academic degrees or experience, for example. Teachers have 13 step-and-track increases available to them.

"What is not in there is to increase the base structure," Mr. Robb said.

With all town employee contracts up for renewal on July 1, Mr. Robb was asked if it was reasonable to have a budget with no allowance for pay increases.

"I don't think it's unreasonable, given the state of the economy," Mr. Robb said. "Other towns have done it."

If any department were to get a 4 or 5 percent base-pay increase, the money would have to come from elsewhere in the budget or through an override, Mr. Robb said.

Two suspects caught after break into Andover home

By Don Staruk

Two burglary suspects were arrested on Route 495 in Andover Wednesday morning, Feb. 19, shortly after they allegedly broke into a house on Greenwood Road where a 15-year-old girl was home alone.

An operator from the Internal Revenue Service called the police station at about 10:45 last Wednesday and said an employee, Mary Breen, of 80 Greenwood Road, had just received a call from her daughter at home saying that a man was in the house. The mother had gone home and was at the house with the daughter when police arrived.

The girl told police she was home alone when she heard a window break, according to Lt. Kevin Lynch.

"She hid in the house and observed a male come into the house," the lieutenant said.

The burglar then apparently got scared off and ran out the back of the house and jumped into a waiting car driven by a female accomplice.

A few minutes later, Wilmington police reported a similar break in which a homeowner came home and found his house broken into. He saw a woman run from the house and he pursued her and a male in his car out to Interstate 93 southbound. He then returned home and called police.

About 10 minutes later, a state police trooper working a detail on Route 495 northbound spotted two persons who fit the suspects' description and stopped them just short of Route 28. Wilmington and Andover police, responded to the scene where Wilmington police arrested the pair.

Andover police brought two witnesses from the Greenwood Road break to the arrest scene and they allegedly "positively identified the subjects," according to Lt. Lynch.

Dawn Hertrich, 21, of 5 Tsienneto Road, Derry, N.H., and Daniel Clegg, 22, of 47 Arthur St., Salem, N.H., were arraigned in Woburn District Court later in the day on charges in the Wilmington break. Andover police arrested the pair at Woburn and charged them with breaking and entering in the daytime with intent to commit larceny.

Curtis A. Siller Jr., a Distinguished Member of Technical Staff at AT&T Bell Laboratories, North Andover, has been elected a Fellow of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers (IEEE). The highest grade of membership in the institute, the title recognizes extraordinary professional contributions and is conferred on less than 1 percent of the association's 300,000 international members.

Dr. Siller joined AT&T Bell Laboratories immediately after receiving a Ph.D. degree from the University of Tennessee in Knoxville in 1969. He initially worked in Whippany, N.J.; in 1971 he was transferred to Bell Laboratories Merrimack Valley facility in Curtis A. Siller Jr.

North Andover. During his 21-year career with the company, his assignments have included applied research in electromagnetics, communication theory and signal processing. His current responsibilities involve conception, strategic planning and feature definition for AT&T Network Systems family of synchronous optical network products. In 1989 he was named an AT&T Bell Laboratories Fellow, for exceptional individual contributions to AT&T and the communications industry.

Dr. Siller has authored nearly 50 publications in the above disciplines. He has been awarded several patents, given numerous invited presentations on his work and facilitated technical program planning for 10 international conferences. He currently serves as a technical editor for the IEEE Communications Magazine, for which he has twice served as a guest editor. Dr. Siller is also chairman of the IEEE Communications Society's Signal Processing and Communication Electronics technical committee, a position he has held since 1988. He is currently treasurer and program chairman for the local Merrimack Valley Subsection of the IEEE and is on the International Advisory Board for the 1992 IEEE Taipei Workshop on Intelligent Signal Processing and Communication Systems.

Dr. Siller lives with his family in Andover. His wife is a financial specialist with AT&T Network Systems; their daughter is a fifth-grade student at the Pike School.

Mark Dugan of North Andover has been appointed the first full-time director of the Computer Learning Center branch school in Methuen. He will also function as Computer Learning

Mark Dugan

Center's vice president for regulatory affairs.

Mr. Dugan has 10 years of experience in private business education, and spent the last four years as assistant executive director of the Accrediting Commission of the Association of Independent Colleges and Schools (now the Career College Association) in Washington, D.C. He attended the Naval Academy in Annapolis and graduated from Villanova University as a business administration major. He is currently working toward a master's degree in association management at George Washington University.

David Carney, president of Computer Learning Center, welcomed Mr. Dugan said the new position "will help CLC play an increasing role in the community as the school prepares people of all ages to function in the computer-based jobs that will be the cornerstone of the coming decades."

Broker attends sales rally

Phyllis Leonard of Boxford, a real estate broker with Re/Max Preferred of North Andover, recently attended the Re/Max of New England Sales Rally and annual awards banquet at the Westin Hotel in Boston.

The company reports a 60 percent increase in real estate transactions in 1991 over 1990.

During the meeting, the regional organization unveiled its plan to join in support of the Genesis Fund and its Children's Miracle Network telethon scheduled for May 31 on WCVB-TV, Channel 5.

Also, participating brokers will designate certain properties they have listed as "miracle homes." A percentage of the sales commission will be donated to the Genesis Fund to help fight against birth defects.

Locally, an evening of theater for brokers, their clients and customers - past, present and future - is planned for May 16, with all the proceeds to benefit the Genesis Fund.

Restaurant plans fund-raiser for burn victim

The Papa Gino's on Route 28 in Andover will hold a five-hour fund-raiser Monday, March 2, from 5 p.m. to 10 p.m., during which time the restaurant will donate 15 percent of its net sales to John Benson.

Mr. Benson, 19, of 55 Lowell St., a 1991 graduate of Andover High School, was burned on more than 88 percent of his body last month when his car went into the woods, flipped over and caught fire.

He is currently hospitalized at the University of Massachusetts Medical Center in Worcester, where he underwent skin grafts last week.

Jan Peters named toy manager

Jan G. Peters has been promoted to advanced manager with Discovery Toys, an international toy designer and distributor of developmental toys, books and games for children.

Ms. Peters began distributing the firm's products eight and one half years ago as an educational consultant in the Andover area.

In her new position she will also manage an expanding independent business and train other educational consultants working as Discovery Toys distributors.

She will head arthritis telethon

Susan Bailis, executive vice president and chief operating officer for A/D/S Management in North Andover, has been named nursing home chairperson for the 1992 Arthritis Foundation Telethon. Ms. Bailis will coordinate all nursing home activities and call on nursing homes statewide to enlist their support for the telethon.

The annual telethon will be broadcast April 18 from noon to 6 p.m. on WSBK-TV38. Hosted by Sara Edwards from WHDH-TV7 and Tom Bergeron from WBZ-TV and Radio, the Massachusetts Telethon will be the largest educational and fund-raising campaign of the year for the Arthritis Foundation.

The telethon, broadcast from New Pond Village in Walpole, will be a fast-paced special that combines entertainment, recognizes local sponsors, interviews health professionals and educates the public on arthritis medication, aquatic programs and more.

Understanding Chiropractic

JOINT ACTION

The spine may seem to be a simple stack of 24 bones (vertebrae), but there is nothing simple about this arrangement. The main body of each vertebra is separated top and bottom by shock-absorbing cartilage cushions known as discs. The non-weightbearing portion of each vertebrae (the posterior arch) makes contact with its adjacent counterparts at four additional points. This means that each vertebra has six joints (not including the two additional joints needed by the upper vertebrae to receive ribs). In order for the spine to display proper movement, each of these joints must enjoy free, harmonious movement. Otherwise, compensatory action by other joints and supportive tissues will disrupt the harmony of movement.

Many things can cause the spinal vertebrae to become misaligned. Our safe and pain-free adjustments may help to remedy the problem. For more information, call DELORENZO CHIROPRACTIC GROUP, 475-5042, for an appointment. Our office is conveniently located at 15 Central St. I am currently serving as president of the Mass. Chiropractic Society.

P.S. It is the vertebral arches which create a continuous tunnel that houses the spinal cord.

Real estate firm locates here

Cushman & Wakefield recently negotiated 15,307 square feet in three office leases in Andover, North Andover and Wakefield.

learned that these people have a lot more to say about their experiences than (adults) give them credit for. We hope this will be an educational tool," he said.

The book, released in October by Avon Books, is written by three women and overseen by Dr. Gresh, who has a degree in adult education from Columbia University. Tell It Like It Is: Straight Talk About Sex uses uncensored excerpts from interviews with hundreds of people between the ages of 18 and 25 who share personal experiences, feelings and opinions about sex and sexuality.

Dr. Gresh, 44, and the authors, who are all in their mid-20s, placed ads in college newspapers all across the country for volunteers to answer questionnaires on sexual issues. They also advertised in Rolling Stone, a national magazine, and the Phoenix newspaper published in Boston.

After reading the responses, Dr. Gresh said the team realized it needed to gather more detailed information on certain areas, so numerous "focus groups" were set up on college campuses where the writers could meet face-to-face with some of the people who responded to the questionnaires.

In the book people are identified only by pseudonyms, age and the state each is from. Their stories range from tender, soul-bearing accounts of intimacy, to humorous and embarrassing situations.

The authors interviewed both straight and gay men and women, some of whom were sexually active and some who were not. Their responses are mixed with evaluations and synopses by the authors.

"One of the more interesting things," Dr. Gresh said about the book as it progressed, "is that although the book is primarily aimed at heterosexuals, we found in the survey and the focus groups that gay men and lesbian women wanted to participate in the dialogue exchanges. We didn't discriminate between sexualities," he said.

"When we sent a few chapters into the publishers for initial review, they hated it.

They thought it was too embarrassingly frank and they asked us to tone it down," Dr. Gresh said.

The authors, Annamaria Formichella, Susan McIntyre and Marjorie Brant Osterhout, and Dr. Gresh told Avon that the book accurately reflected what the people had to say. He said a compromise was struck that both sides could agree on.

The book is divided into three sections: before, during and after. At the beginning of the book the authors state their philosophy: People need to learn to communicate verbally and nonverbally with their peers and their partners. Before you can communicate anything to your partner, you have to know within yourself what you believe

"It was important for us to not come off sounding like experts, saying how things should or shouldn't be between two people," he said.

"The people who are quoted in the book are the ones carrying on the dialogue. Our job was just to be the moderators," Dr. Gresh said.

But when it came to addressing sexual health, the authors did seek professional input, he said. Tell It Like It Is: Straight Talk About Sex contains information from health-care professionals on birth control, sexually transmitted diseases, AIDS and state-by-state listings of AIDS and family planning centers.

About the author

Dr. Gresh is the father of 16-year-old Kristen, 12-year-old Geoffrey and 6-year-old Ashley, who now live with their mother in New Hampshire. He said neither of his two older children have read the entire book, but each has read some of it.

"My son said he liked what part of the book he did read," Dr. Gresh said.

"When his friends found out his father had written a book on sex, they said they wanted to meet me. I think it helps my kids knowing that I'm open and willing to discuss the topic with them without being judgmental," he said.

Dr. Gresh is a creative consultant at Quantic Communications on Riverside Drive.

He has taught writing and publishing at a variety of colleges, including the University of South Carolina, Allen University in South Carolina, Northern Essex Community College in

Sean Gresh

Haverhill, Emerson in Boston and Bradford College. He worked as a speech writer at Honeywell and Digital before joining Quantic's staff.

He has also written on parenting and fatherhood for Glamour magazine and on religious issues for Newsweek, as well as Boston Magazine and American Baby.

Dr. Gresh is the author of Becoming a Father, a handbook for expectant fathers.

"When my wife was pregnant with our first child, I looked for a book to help me understand more of what she was going through physically and emotionally. There wasn't a book out there for expectant fathers," he said.

In Becoming a Father, Dr. Gresh wrote about his own experiences with his wife's pregnancy, as well as anecdotes from fathers about their experiences.

His next project is still in the initial stages, but it is tentatively titled Own Your Own Turf, Own Your Own Terms, a book about young adults leaving their parents' home and making it on their own.

YWCA launches Teen Incentive Program (TIP)

The Greater Lawrence YWCA has launched the new Teen Incentive Program (TIP), designed to help students at risk of dropping out of high school.

The program requires 30 adults to volunteer for two hours a week from now until May. A volunteer's energy will be geared toward the tutoring of job and life-skill training.

Tutors will be assigned to a student in accordance with the adult's strength and preferences.

During this 24-week session, tutors will meet with their student to assist with homework and other subjects of interest to the teen-

Pursuing Long-Term Growth... While Avoiding Undue Market Risks

THE JOHN HANCOCK SOVEREIGN INVESTORS FUND

A Unique Approach... This 55 year old fund invests only in those stocks which have increased their dividends in each of the past 10 or more years. The reasoning is simple. Companies with consistent growth and rising earnings, tested by a full decade of economic changes, may generally be rewarded by the market. And, their rising dividends offer income with the potential to outpace inflation.

as of 12/31/91

Consistent Returns:

- The value of an investment in Sovereign Investors has gone up each of the last 12 years.*
- Sovereign has paid uninterrupted quarterly dividends since 1937.

A Proven Retirement Choice:

- Sovereign Investors' disciplined approach makes the fund a prudent choice for IRA contributions and retirement plans.

Total Return figures are historical and include change in the share price, reinvestment of dividends and capital gains and the effect of the Fund's 5% sales charge. Past performance is no guarantee of future results. Equity investing is subject to stock market fluctuations. Share price and return will vary resulting in a gain or loss when you sell your shares.

AHS basketball star wins full scholarship

By Rick Harrison

Andover High basketball All-Scholastic Sean Ryan, a 6'1" senior point guard who has been the heart, soul and guts of this year's Golden Warrior tournament qualifier, will receive a full scholarship to attend Monmouth College in West Long Branch, N.J.

Monmouth is an NCAA Division 1 school located on the Jersey shore, and the Northeast Conference team plays a schedule that includes Vermont, Army, Northeastern, UNH, Delaware and George Washington.

After some careful deliberation, the highly recruited Mr. Ryan chose Monmouth over Division 1 Hofstra, Manhattan, Colgate, Lafayette and Division 2 UMass-Lowell, Merrimack and St. Michael's.

Mr. Ryan, who entered Andover's tourney opener with 410 points this season and 853 for his four-year AHS career, is the first player from the Merrimack Valley Conference to receive a Division 1 scholarship since 1984-'85 when three players did it: Leo Parent (Manhattan) of Central Catholic and the Lowell High tandem of Ramon Rivera (Houston Cougars) and Scott Stapleton (Richmond Spiders).

Ironically, it was Mr. Ryan's father, Charlie, who was coaching Lowell High when Mr. Rivera and Mr. Stapleton were starring.

The last Andover player to go Division 1 was Ted Kelley who played at Boston College and the Big East in the early 1980s.

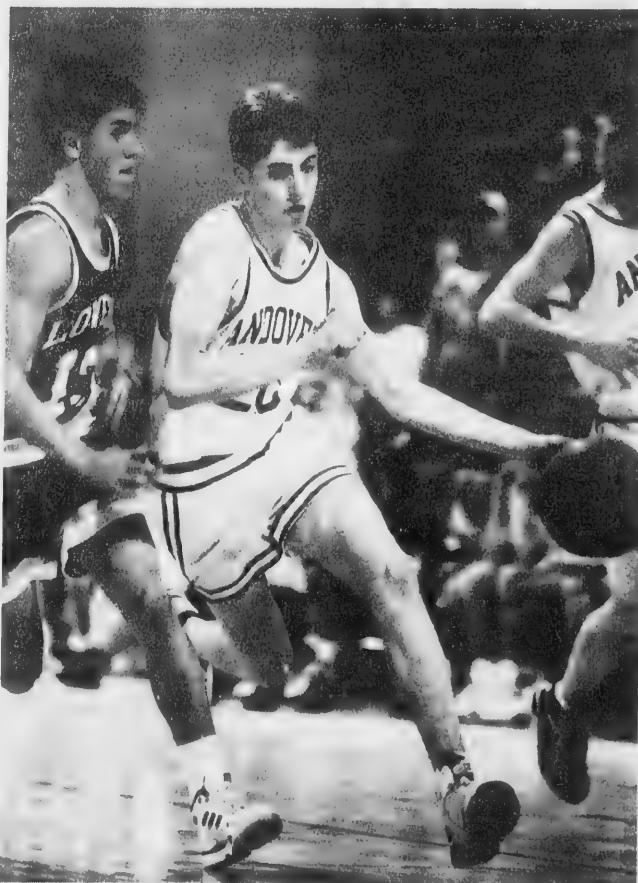

John Perry played ball at the University of New Hampshire last year, but he is at the school on a football scholarship (setting pass-catching records) and joined the hoop team as a walk-on.

In addition, Mr. Ryan is only the third player in Massachusetts to go Division 1 so far this year, the other two being Casey Arena of Bishop Fenwick (UMaine) and Ezekiel Henderson of East Boston (St. Peter's).

Mr. Ryan is one of the top-rated players in New England by the various scouting services, and in the upper echelon of point guards in the state.

He is an honor roll student and the only athlete to ever play four years of varsity basketball at Andover High (freshmen have only been eligible the past four years). He has been a starter since his sophomore year when current Coach Dave Fazio succeeded Tom Ryser.

During his tenure Andover has gone 53-30 and qualified for the Eastern Massachusetts Division 1 Tournament all four years.

Andover High's Sean Ryan (in light-colored uniform) shows the stuff that won him a full scholarship from Monmouth College, which was one of several colleges wooing the basketball star.

In addition to points scored, Sean also leads Andover in three-point field goals (40), total field goals (124), free throws (116), free throw percentage (81.4), three-point percentage (49.2), assists (92) and steals (83).

Under Head Coach Wayne Szoke, the Monmouth College Hawks have registered four consecutive winning seasons, and last year set a school record for victories with 19.

Mr. Ryan, a Merrimack Valley Conference All-Star, is also a likely All-Scholastic choice this season.

He recently appeared in a television commercial with Larry Bird and Kareem Abdul-Jabbar.

Mr. Ryan, a long-distance sharpshooter who netted a personal-high 31 points against Haverhill and scored 29 in a recent contest against Central Catholic, hit more than 20 consecutive free throws over several games last year and finished his junior campaign with 284 points.

"He's pretty much done it all for us this year," offered Coach Fazio. "He's handled both the point-guard and shooting-guard positions with equal ease. He's been beaten up and played hurt, but he plays just about every minute because we can't afford to sit him down."

"Every game people have designed special defenses for him, but he's been able to beat them all. He's a guaranteed 20 points every night."

Mr. Fazio called his star player "a leader by example."

"And the kids respect him. He's not a vocal type of leader, and it would be nice if he had more of that in him."

Mr. Ryan is the oldest son of Janice and former Lowell High Coach Charles Ryan of 4 Cindy Lane.

He is very devoted to his 11-year-old physically challenged brother, Kevin, who in turn is his talented older brother's No. 1 fan.

Pair at PA honored in sciences

A teacher/student pair at Phillips Academy were honored as Tandy Technology Scholars, a program to recognize academic excellence, especially in the areas of mathematics, science and computer science. This is the third year the program, which announced awards totaling $350,000, has honored teachers and graduating seniors at American high schools.

Phillips physics teacher Jennifer Bond Hickman was named an outstanding math/science/computer science teacher national finalist. And senior Sue Kim received a certificate as an outstanding math/science/computer science student school nominee.

Ms. Hickman is among 100 teachers from across the country to receive $2,500 each for the honor. The national finalists were proclaimed "Champions of the Classroom" at a news conference yesterday at the National Press Club in Washington, D.C.

Inspiring teacher receives award

Donald Barry, a calculus teacher at Phillips Academy, was honored for his work with high school students by Harvey Mudd College in Claremont, Calif., at its first Teacher Recognition Program.

Mr. Barry was among 20 teachers from all over the country nominated by the college's freshmen as teachers who most inspired and encouraged them to continue their education.

"At a time when high schools face so many challenges, I think it's appropriate to take time to recognize those who really make a difference for the students," said Patricia Coleman, the college's dean of admission.

Mr. Barry and the other high school teachers spent time with Harvey Mudd College faculty and students in forums, workshops, classrooms and laboratories. A highlight of their stay was the faculty liaison program, which links each teacher one to one with a faculty member to exchange ideas on high school education.

Each honoree received a plaque for excellence in teaching and "inspiring students in mathematics and science."

Mr. Barry joined the Phillips Academy faculty in 1980 as an instructor in mathematics. He earned a bachelor of arts degree from Carleton College in Minnesota and a master of divinity from Yale University.

He also serves as a house counselor and coaches a girls cross country team and boys junior varsity basketball. He and his wife, Roxy, have three children.

Students debate condom distribution

By Melissa Minot

The Andover High School Junior Statesman Club organized a discussion on condom distribution.

The debate was the highlight of an all-day convention at Andover High. The convention included two debates and one "thought talk" students could choose to go to every period.

Many students had opinions to voice. "People you would usually consider shy got up in front of a large audience to fight for what they believed in . . . The whole argument was very controversial," said junior Carolyn Casdia.

Ms. Casdia said teen-agers are going to have sex no matter what and that condom distribution could only help stop the spread of AIDS.

But surprisingly, a large majority of the students were against the idea of having machines at the high school. They felt that if teen-agers are mature enough to take on the responsibilities of sex, they should be responsible enough to obtain their own birth control at a drug store, just like adults have to.

Homosexual marriage was the subject of a thought talk that attracted a large crowd.

"There were two very different sides to the issue, and it was interesting to find out what other people thought about the topic," said junior Amanda Shakee. "I personally feel that it shouldn't matter if you are a homosexual or heterosexual couple as long as you love each other enough to want to be legally binded."

Junior State also hosted a discussion on "Andover snobs." This debate definitely produced the most active participation. Senior Jamie Damon, who had the floor a lot of the time, said that while some people from Andover might have snobby attitudes, people should not generalize that everyone does, based on the wealth of the community.

"The whole argument made me angry because our parents have worked so hard to bring us into this society," said senior Lea Conserva. "How much you have should not matter: Values should be more important than material things."

The debate did not end when the bell rang: It could be heard in hallways and classrooms until the end of the day.

The convention began with a speech made by Rep. Gary Coon, who addressed about 400 students interested in learning more about politics. He spoke about the legislative process, specifically the process of a bill becoming a law and the importance of fair representation.

Many teachers were impressed by the student-run convention. "I was very pleased to see such avid participation. It was a great step against apathy," said social studies teacher George Sullivan, who congratulated the club's adviser, William Hart, for "a fantastic job."

Junior State officers put a lot of time into the convention and said they were pleased with the results. They are President Laura Wilson, Vice President Kate Parker, Director of Debate Melissa Minot, Secretary Christine Anderson, and publicity co-heads Bipasha Ray, Steve Sylvanowicz and Rebecca Barry.

Course prepares students for SATs

An SAT preparation course for high school sophomores, juniors and seniors will be offered by study skills expert Roberta Wohlman at the Andover/North Andover YMCA beginning March 8.

Designed to prepare students for the verbal portion of the test, the course will help students gain proficiency in a variety of techniques for solving the analogy and sentence completion test items, Ms. Wohlman said. She will also present the reading comprehension items. Intensive vocabulary development is featured.

The class meets Sundays, March 8-April 12, from 3 to 6:15 p.m. and Wednesdays, April 15 and 29, from 7 to 9 p.m. The course tuition is $180 and materials $36.

Registration should be made in person at the YMCA, 165 Haverhill St.

Marketing students head to state competition

Several Andover High School marketing students competed in the district conference recently at the Lowell Sheraton, qualifying 17 students to compete at the state marketing conference in Falmouth March 8-10.

To participate in the competitions, students become members of Distributive Education Clubs of America, the only national student organization operating through the nation's schools to attract young people to careers in marketing management and entrepreneurship.

Its purpose is to develop a respect for education that will contribute to occupational competence and promote understanding and appreciation for the responsibilities of citizenship in a competitive enterprise system, explained Andover High adviser Jo-Ann Samra.

The following students will compete with more than 700 DECA members and advisers from all over the state: Hila Horovitz, finance and credit; Jeremy Roux, food marketing (employee); Barret Elliot, food marketing (supervisory); Jason Hastings, Spike Pappadopoulos, full-service restaurant management; Laura Morgan, Brian Jones, general marketing

(employee); Jesse Ciccone, Lorien Buehler, general marketing (supervisory); Scott Ginsberg, general merchandise (employee); Maura Collins, general merchandise (supervisory); Caren Stutz, quick-serve restaurant management; A.J. Rimas, vehicle and petroleum marketing; Julie Giangregorio, Laura Williams, hospitality and tourism marketing; AND Adam Cohen, entrepreneurship participating (written).

Spike Pappadopoulos, Lorien Buehler, A.J. Rimas and Jen Letch placed first in their respective categories. Jesse Ciccone placed second. Jason Hastings, Caren Stutz, Laura Williams and Adam Cohen placed third.

Ms. Samra and Joe Spanos, the other DECA adviser, say they are looking forward to their participation at the state competitions.

PA teacher, student honored

More than 56 percent, a total of 12,750, of all the secondary schools in the United States are enrolled in this education initiative, which is funded by Tandy Corp. and administered by Texas Christian University.

John V. Roach, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Tandy, and Dr. William E. Tucker, chancellor of Texas Christian University, were joined by numerous educational leaders to congratulate these outstanding students and teachers.

"The Tandy Technology Scholars program exemplifies the growing spirit of cooperation between business and education and the initiatives of business to become involved in and to help resolve issues of national concern," Mr. Roach said.

One-third of all high schools participated in the 1991-'92 program. This is an "unprecedented number," according to Donald Stewart, president of College Board and member of the Tandy Technology Scholars National Advisory Council.

"It is an incredible achievement for a new program to gain this level of participation."

The Tandy Technology Scholars program is open to students and teachers through accredited high schools throughout the United States. The national finalists were selected by a panel of educators and approved by the National Advisory Council.

St. John's Prep

Senior Gregory Santosuosso and juniors Imran A. Khusro, Andrew J. Novelline and Brendan J. Sullivan qualified for the honor roll for having report cards with all grades 85 or above.

Student named merit finalist

Zachary R. Sung of Andover was recently named a finalist in the 1992 competition for scholarships through the National Merit Scholarship Program.

This distinction places him in a group representing about half of the top 1 percent of American high school seniors. Finalists are now being considered for one of 2,000 National Merit $2,000 scholarships to be offered in 1992 on a state representational basis.

A senior at Brooks School, Mr. Sung serves as School Council president and as a senior prefect. He is also a member of the Environmental Club, a peer tutor, and a writer for the student literary magazine.

His sports include crew, soccer and cross country, and he is captain of the wrestling team.

Zachary Sung

Earlier this year, Mr. Sung won an award from the National Council of Teachers of English.

PA senior up for national honor

Margaret Litvin, daughter of Yuri and Maria Litvin and a graduating senior at Phillips Academy, has been named one of approximately 2,500 semifinalists in the 1992 Presidential Scholars Program. The semifinalists were selected from more than 2.5 million students expected to graduate from U.S. high schools in 1992.

From these semifinalists, 141 will be selected as the 1992 Presidential Scholars. The White House will announce their selection in early May.

Now in its 28th year, the Presidential Scholars Program is the highest federal honor bestowed on graduating high school seniors. Scholars are selected on the basis of superior academic achievements, leadership qualities, strong character and involvement in community and school activities.

Semifinalists were selected for their exceptional performance on either the SAT of the College Board or the ACT Assessment of the American College Testing Program.

Further consideration is based on students' essays, self-assessments, description of activities, school recommendations and school transcripts. A panel of educators will review these submissions and select 500 finalists in April.

Final selection will be made by the White House Commission on Presidential Scholars, a group of some 40 citizens appointed by the president.

They will select one young man and woman from each state, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, and U.S. students living abroad; up to 20 students from the creative and performing arts; and 15 students at large.

Scholars will be invited to Washington in mid-June to receive the Presidential Scholar medallion at a recognition ceremony and participate in activities with their elected representatives, educators and others in public life.

Residents picked for gifted program

Mark Tompkins, Jeremy Swerdlow, Jay Valinsky, Raj Dandage and Jeffrey Tompkins of Andover have been accepted into College Academy at Bradford College.

Founded in 1979, the College Academy program was designed to meet the needs of bright children in grades four through eight. The children select four classes out of the more than 20 offered as the focus of their summer study.

Included among the youngsters' choices are rocketry, chess, chemistry and acting. College Academy will be hosted by Bradford College July 6-24.

Third-grade students at West Elementary School are drawing flags of the world to scale as parents supervise the activity. Teacher LouAnn Chiotelis developed the integrated enrichment unit to enhance cultural awareness. Students in Mrs. Chiotelis' and Evelyn Wrobel's classes worked cooperatively in math, social studies, computers, language arts and art to scale drawings, research their countries, record data, and write and print out reports to share with one other. More than 20 flags and pertinent data will be displayed in Pod A at least through the end of the year. The countries represented include Ethiopia, Germany, France, Norway, Finland, Lebanon, India, Syria, Chile, Italy, Sweden, Greece, Mexico, Canada, Australia, United Kingdom, Japan, China, Egypt, Poland and Saudi Arabia.

West Elementary raffles off quilt

West Elementary School students and their families at a recent pancake breakfast had a chance to see the quilt on display for another PTO fund-raiser.

Spirits were as high as the stacks of pancakes being prepared and served by teachers and administrators. Liz Mongeau and Lisa Guy, co-chairwomen of the event, reported that they "enjoyed planning the breakfast and were delighted with the turnout."

Breakfast-goers got to see the quilt, handmade by four West Elementary mothers, which is being raffled. Raffle tickets are available from the school office, any West student or from Joan Ross.

Joan Ross and her family, Russell and Arnold, show off the quilt she helped make.

Mrs. Ross, Tina Gatti, Deborah Morrison and Pat D'Ambrosio spent many hours working to piece the 293 6-inch squares together to assist in the purchase of a Macintosh computer with hard disk.

The quilt is made of 100 percent cotton in teals, blues, greens and pinks, with a silvery gray and white background. It measures 93 by 110 inches and is machine washable.

Mrs. Ross describes the quilt as an "updated traditional medallion style."

The drawing will be held at the PTO board meeting Thursday, March 5. Winner does not need to be present.

Library hosts pajama parties

Memorial Hall Library will host pajama parties for 3 1/2- to 5-year-olds on Thursdays from 6:30 to 7:15 p.m.

Pajama Party is an evening story hour for preschoolers unable to participate in the library's morning programs, said children's librarian Bridget Bennett.

Children may come dressed in their PJs if they wish.

Bed-time stories, quiet songs, games and an occasional short film will be presented, with the goal of providing "an enjoyable and relaxing listening time," Ms. Bennett said.

The series begins March 5 and will continue for eight weeks. April 23 will be the last session.

Since the program is on a drop-in basis, no preregistration is required.

ASK Team plans fun and games

Peter Meade, host of WBZ's Radio Morning Show, will kick off the Project Charlie Family Fun Night Tuesday, March 3, at 7 p.m. with an audience participation salute to the Olympic spirit.

Former Boston Patriot linebacker and national Project Teamwork Chairman Keith Lee will address the audience on "Being Your Best" at home, school and in your community. Regional athletes will award recognition medals to poster contest winners by grade from each elementary school.

Tuesday's Fun Night, which runs from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. at Andover High School, continues an annual tradition for Andover's Community ASK Team.

This family outing will include informational exhibits, games, photos with Project Charlie, and entries from the systemwide poster contest, all on display in the Andover High cafeteria.

Tickets will be available for $1 at the door if not already purchased at school.

Juniors from St. Augustine's School's Girl Scout Troop 577 will sell Girl Scout cookies in the Andover Bank Lobby this weekend. Getting ready are, front, Kathleen Cahill, left, and Susan Provencher; back row, Annie Rooney and Jamie Viola. The Scouts will sell Thin Mints, Do-Si-Does, Tagalongs, Samoas and Trefoils, as well as two new cookies, Chalet Cremes and Golden Nut Clusters, Friday, Feb. 28, from 3 to 6 p.m. and Saturday, Feb. 29, from 9 a.m. to noon.

Group plans foreign exchanges

The advisory board for the foreign exchange program Passport Exchange will meet Tuesday, March 3, at 91 Main St. The board will discuss plans for the summer program to be held in Andover July 7-31 for students from Valencia, Spain, and Milan and Rome, Italy.

The agenda of the meeting will cover the activities, tutorials, host family placements and excursions of the summer program, including group travel for all program participants the first week of August to Disney World. Travel plans for participants to Spain and Italy next year will also be discussed, along with the possibility of reintroducing an exchange with France.

The credo of Passport Exchange is that one of the best ways to get to know another country is by hosting an exchange student, according to Peter R. Beaven, general director of Passport Exchange.

For more than a decade, Passport Exchange has introduced Andover families to Spain, France and Italy through foreign students' visits to Andover homes through the summer program.

"For local students of Spanish, French and Italian, one of the best ways to converse in the idiom they are learning is by getting to know native speakers hosted here in a local, welcoming community and family setting," Mr. Beaven said.

"The purpose of the program is to encourage families from the community and other countries to form bonds of friendship and understanding and thereby enhance the cultural and linguistic exchange."

Students coming in July will follow regularly scheduled activities from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. During these weekdays there are tutorials in English conversation and excursions to area cultural and recreational attractions, as well as informal sports, fiestas and various get-togethers. Participation by host families is encouraged at all activities and events.

Evenings and weekends are for unscheduled time when students can be with host families and friends.

Stipends are granted to families who host a student as well as to local students who work for the program. Each year an affordable group travel is offered to Europe to visit the families and communities from which the exchange students come.

The director of the Andover program for the last few years is William Kolbe, who teaches Spanish at Andover High School. Mr. Kolbe spent three years in El Salvador with the Peace Corps and three more years working for the Central Academy of Languages and the American School in San Salvador.

Director of Beaven & Associates of Andover, a private tutoring agency, Mr. Beaven established the Passport Exchange program 12 years ago and has overseen its expansion into other New England towns, such as Kennebunk, Maine, and Amherst, N.H. He has been traveling to Spain, France and Italy since 1966.

Inquiries are welcome from those interested in becoming a member of the board and joining the next meeting.

Tomorrow's the essay deadline

The deadline for the "Andover in the 21st Century" essay contest is tomorrow, Friday, Feb. 28.

The town of Andover, the school department and the Andover Townsman are organizing the contest, which asks writers to describe Andover in the year 2000 and to predict the biggest single change that no one has ever thought about.

The essay or written response must be no more than 600 words long, typewritten and double spaced to be deemed acceptable by the judges. Essays will be judged on their originality, logic and writing style.

First and second prizes and honorable mentions will be awarded in each of the following age groups: Grades three to five, grades six to eight, and grades nine to 12. There is also an adult category.

First prize is a $100 savings bond and second, a $50 savings bond.

For specific guidelines on the form essays should take, see the schools pages in last week's Townsman.

Essays should be mailed or brought to the selectman's office, town office building, Bartlett Street, Andover 01810.

Clock collector talks about hobby at bookstore

By Sue O'Neill

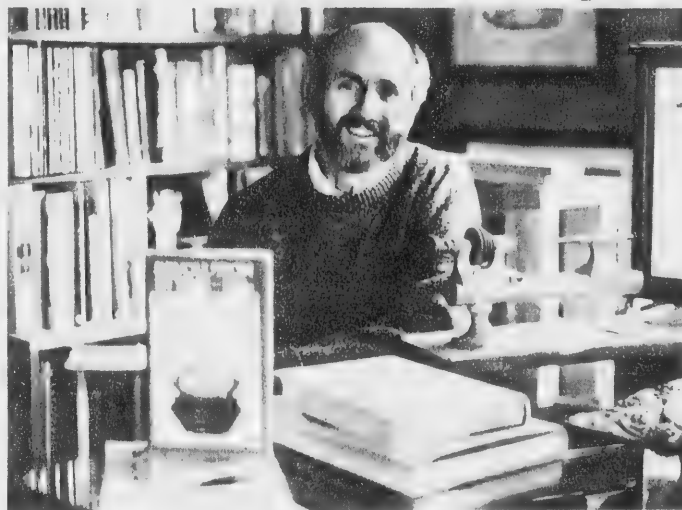

Lawrence's Robert Frishman will open the winter/spring series of "Tea at Three" at Andover Books and Prints Sunday, March 1, with "Time Ink," a discussion of literature about clocks, clockmakers and their machines, and the history and mechanics of keeping time.

Mr. Frishman, president of AKKO Inc., a furniture company in Lawrence, has collected and repaired timepieces for more than 10 years. He has an extensive library on subjects relating to his hobby.

His interest in timepieces began in November 1980 when he and his wife, writer Jeanne Schinto, ate Thanksgiving dessert at the house of acquaintances. In the course of the evening, the host showed them his basement, which was full of tools and machines for making and repairing clocks and watches.

"It was like Santa's workshop," Mr. Frishman recalls. He thought, "This is unbelievable - I love it. What do I do next?"

The acquaintance, who became a close friend, steered him to the National Association of Watch and Clock Collectors. Guided by contact with other enthusiasts, Mr. Frishman gathered books about the repair of timepieces, then bought his first piece, a hotel clock dating from the 1890s.

Bob Frishman sits in his library repair shop. He will talk about clocks in literature at Andover Books and Prints Sunday.

As his interest grew, he took two clock repair sessions at Cincinnati's American Watchmakers Institute. He put his knowledge to use by repairing watches for Andover Family Craftsmen in North Reading.

After 11 years of collecting, Mr. Frishman estimates he has more than 60 timepieces. The more valuable are under lock and key in a bank safe deposit vault. His workroom is cluttered with tools; the drawer to his table is filled with broken watches waiting for his expertise.

Mr. Frishman considers the growth of his hobby a natural extension of his earlier interests - he collected antique furniture and has always enjoyed working with mechanical things (at one time he repaired and renovated sports cars).

"For me, this is a perfect combination of art and science," he says.

Andover Books and Prints, 68 Park St., serves "Tea at Three" from 3 to 4 p.m. on Sundays. The program is open to the public and features a half-hour presentation by the week's guest, followed by tea and discussion.

Musicians in weekend concerts at Phillips

The Phillips Academy Symphony and Chamber Orchestras will perform varied orchestral repertoire, featuring student soloists who will graduate this June. The musicians will perform Friday, Feb. 28, at 7:30 p.m. in Cochran Chapel, located on Chapel Avenue.

The Academy Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of William Thomas, will play Ludwig van Beethoven's Egmont Overture and Sir Edward Elgar's Cello Concerto featuring PA senior Joseph Hong.

The Academy Chamber Orchestra, also under Mr. Thomas' direction, will play Antonio Vivaldi's Concerto grosso in d minor for two violins and cello featuring student violinists Maki Hsieh and Nuwesh Thrupkaew and cellist Joseph Hong.

Ms. Hsieh and Ms. Thrupkaew are co-concertmasters of the Phillips Academy Chamber and Symphony Orchestras, for which Mr. Hong is principal cellist.

The three are also members of the PA Chamber Music Society.

The Amadeus Society, conducted by Heidi Yenny, will perform Benjamin Britten's Boistrous Bounce and the Beatles melody Eleanor Rigby.

Excelsior, under Mark Smith's direction, will perform Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart's Divertimento, K. 136, allegro movement.

Classical guitarist William Matthews will perform a program of 20th-century compositions Saturday, Feb. 29, at 7 p.m. in the Timken Recital Room at Graves Hall on the Phillips campus.

Besides his performances in Europe, Africa and the Far East, Mr. Matthews has played three extensive tours of India and performed in 15 Latin American countries.

His programs often emphasize contemporary American music, including works he has commissioned from composers such as Sebastian Currier, Michael Gandolfi, Frederic Hand and Lester Trimble.

Mr. Matthews has performed at Carnegie Recital Hall and records for Turnabout.

Cellist Pamela Frame and pianist Natalya Antonova will perform a program of 19th- and 20th-century chamber music Sunday, March 1, at 3 p.m. in the Timken Recital Room at Graves Hall.

Their program will include works by Sergei Prokofiev, Fritz Kreisler and Johannes Brahms.

Ms. Frame, a member of the cello faculty of the Eastman School of Music since 1989, was chosen for support by the Pro Musicis Foundation. She has toured and recorded with the Orpheus Chamber Orchestra.

Ms. Antonova was educated in Russia and has appeared as a soloist and chamber musician throughout eastern Europe.

These performances are free.

Organist returns to alma mater

Phillips Academy organist Carolyn Day Skelton is among Hastings College alumni performing recitals at the Nebraska college's Music Masters Week this week.

Ms. Skelton opened the week with an organ recital including works by Robert Schumann, J.S. Bach and Cesar Franck. She also performed Wednesday night at the First Presbyterian Church in Hastings, Neb.

Ms. Skelton graduated from Hastings College; studied at the Academy of Music in Vienna, Austria, on a Fulbright Scholarship; and earned a master of music degree in organ performance at the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston.

She has taught at Phillips since 1972. Ms. Skelton has performed in solo organ and harpsichord recitals throughout New England.

Writers converge on UMass-Lowell

The University of Massachusetts at Lowell's division of continuing education will host a weekend-long Writers' Conference from Friday, March 6, through Sunday, March 8. Lectures by published writers, poets, journalists, an editor, literary agent and publisher will highlight the event.

Featured speakers include David Huddle, author of Paper Boy, Stopping by Home and the soon-to-be-released The Nature of Yearning. Mr. Huddle will speak on Saturday morning and read from his work that afternoon.

Also featured is Valerie Martin, who has published four novels: A Recent Martyr, Alexandra, Set in Motion and Mary Reilly. Ms. Martin is also a managing editor at the Lynx House Press and has judged novels in the AWP Award Series. She will speak on Sunday morning and read from her work that afternoon.

Conference attendees will have the chance to share their own work with others during open readings to be held Saturday and Sunday mornings. Time will permit only six to eight readings per day, and readers will be selected on a first-come, first-served basis.

The cost of the Writers' Conference is $140, or $75 for full-time students. Registration may take place at the conference or before. For complete details or to register, call UMass-Lowell at 934-2405.

Symposium focuses on Chinese art, tradition

Phillips Academy will close its 1992 Headmaster's Symposium this week with a look at art, gardens and tradition in China. There will be two presentations Friday, Feb. 28.

PA development officer Peter Capra will present a slide lecture on traditional Chinese gardens from 6 to 6:40 p.m. in AV Room 5.

Painter Cathy Chan will illustrate the art of traditional brush stroke painting at 7 p.m. in Kemper Auditorium.

Yale Professor Jonathan Spence will give this year's Alfred E. Stearns Lecture, "The Weight of Tradition in Contemporary China," Sunday, March 1, at 7 p.m.

Mr. Capra, a 1953 graduate of Phillips, joined the office of academy resources as director of planned giving in 1989.

He holds a bachelor of arts degree from Yale University and master of business administration from New York University and worked in international banking while based in New York and Boston.

He has done extensive business and personal travel in Asia and, after serving in the Army, spent 1960-61 in Korea, where he gained an appreciation for the Orient.

Mr. Capra participated in the faculty's summer trip to China. In his presentation, he will explore the concept of "Yen and Yang" in Chinese philosophy expressed through gardens. He will contrast them with Western thought, manifested as humans imposing their being on nature.

Ms. Chan is director of the Foundation for Chinese Performing Arts.

She earned a bachelor of arts in agricultural chemistry from Taiwan University and a doctorate in nutrition from the University of California at Berkeley.

Ms. Chan lectures at schools and colleges throughout the country on traditional Chinese brush-stroke painting technique. During her lecture she will demonstrate proper mixing of paints and share traditional elements of Chinese scroll painting.

Mr. Spence is George Burton Adams Professor of History at Yale University. He was born in England and educated at Winchester College and Cambridge University. He earned a doctorate in history from Yale in 1965.

Mr. Spence is the author of eight works on China, including Emperor of China: Self-Portrait of K'ang-hsi, The Death of Woman Wang and The Gate of Heavenly Peace (awarded the Los Angeles Times Book Prize and named one of the best non-fiction books of the year by the New York Times Book Review).

His most recent book, The Search for Modern China, was published last spring.

The Alfred E. Stearns Lecture-ship Foundation was established in 1926 by Thomas Cochran, class of 1890, to honor PA's ninth headmaster (1903-1933).

Since its inception, the Stearns Lecture has brought distinguished speakers to the campus, including Robert Frost, Archibald MacLeish and Daniel Patrick Moynihan.

These events are free and open to the public. Kemper Auditorium and AV Room are part of the Arts Center on Chapel Avenue, across from the Andover Inn.

Quartet to perform

The New Incredible String Quartet will play thematic bass medleys Thursday, March 5, at 3:30 p.m. at Merrimack College.

The quartet's concert is the fourth in Merrimack's afternoon concert series during the spring semester.

The concerts are held in the college's wheelchair-accessible library auditorium. They last about an hour and are free.

Refreshments follow each concert.

Youth theater rehearses 'Dolly'

This April, 51 area students will display their "elegance" onstage when the Merrimack Junior Theatre Company presents Hello, Dolly. The 1963 Broadway comedy by Michael Stewart, with music and lyrics by Jerry Herman, is a musical adaptation of Thornton Wilder's The Matchmaker.

It details the matchmaking machinations of Dolly Levi, portrayed by Carol Channing on Broadway, in Yonkers at the turn of the century. Songs include "It Takes a Woman," "We Got Elegance," and the title song, which became a hit for Louis Armstrong.

This play, like last year's MJT production of Oliver, will feature a collaboration between Andover director Josie Walker-Halstead and choreographer Dennis Lorne of Lawrence.

The cast includes Amy Wilkins (Dolly), Todd Buonopane (Horace Vandergelder), Karen Kirley (Irene), Mira Tamarkin (Minnie), Josh Marmer (Cornelius), T. J. Witham (Barnaby), Chris Sintros (Ambrose), Lisa Zonghetti (Ermengarde), Carly Detterman (Ernestina), Aaron Waxler (Rudolph), Matt Goldstein (Judge), Suzie Hearl (Mrs. Rose) and Kel O' Neill (first cook), all of Andover.

Michael Dinsmore of Lowell will play the role of Stanley.

Also featured in the musical production are Erin Baggeroer, Ben Bradway, David Byers, Leigh Croteau, Marc D'Agostino, Julia Darling, Robin Detterman, Janine Givens, Anne Glazebrook, Abbey Goldstein, Mike Jones, Andrew Kletjian, Katherine Lennon, Margo Nothnagel, Suzannah Parker, Jenny Powers, Keith Putnam, Danielle Rizzo, Carly Robins, Sarah Ruderman, Alyson Shea, Lindsey Strube, Jen Tupper, Jon Weiner, Sarah Weir, Emily Winters, Hilary Winters and Samantha Witman, all of Andover.

Other cast members are Kerry Carney and Kristen Dinsmore, Lowell; Chad Belanger, Billerica; Todd Amundsen, North Andover; Sal Delmonte, Lawrence; Sabrina Gum and Julie Kanach, Wilmington; Keri Ann McGrade, Dracut; and Phillip Oteri, of Tewksbury.

Hello, Dolly will be staged April 3, 4 and 5 at Doherty Middle School Memorial Auditorium on Bartlet Street. For information about tickets or group sales, call Maureen Zonghetti at 475-8219.

Pike students recall Broadway

The curtain goes up tonight at the Pike School for the first of two performances of Stage-Struck. This eighth-grade production is a review including 14 songs from different Broadway shows.

The story is an account of how a musical production is staged. The audience follows the process of casting, rehearsing and opening a show. Stage-Struck is under the direction of faculty members Lisa Brackett and Larry Robertson.

Performances open to the public are Thursday, Feb. 27, at 7:30 p.m. and Friday, Feb. 28, at 8 p.m. Tickets at the door are $3 for students and $4 for adults.

Vienna Choir sings

The Center for the Arts at the University of Massachusetts at Lowell will present the Vienna Choir Boys in concert Friday, March 20, at 8 p.m. The performance will take place in Durgin Hall on the university's south campus at the corner of Pawtucket and Wilder streets.

The concert will include a costumed presentation of Johann Strauss' comic one-act operetta, Tales from the Vienna Woods; folk-songs from various countries; and works by Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, Johannes Brahms, Benjamin Britten and others.

Tickets are $19 and $17, or $17 and $15, if purchased at least a week before the performance. Student tickets are $9.50/$8.50. To order tickets with MasterCard/Visa, call the Center at 934-4444 weekdays.

Student artists honored

Local student artists were among the recipients of high marks in the 1992 Boston Globe Scholastic Art Awards competition. The students will be honored at an awards ceremony Sunday, March 1, at the State Transportation Building in Boston with blue ribbon and gold key awards.

Four students from Andover High School earned blue ribbons: Jeffrey Breazeale, Debra Flashenberg, Paul Krasnoo and Lena Wells. A fourth student, Amanda Grasso, was awarded a gold key award.

The Boston Globe Scholastic Art Awards competition is open to all students in grades seven through 12 from schools across Massachusetts.

It is sponsored in New Hampshire and Massachusetts by The Boston Globe. The competition is administered by the New England Art Education Conference in cooperation with the Massachusetts Art Education Association.

The competition is designed to recognize and reward promising young artists and encourage them to continue their studies in fine arts.

The award-winning work will be on display through March 1 at the State Transportation Building, 10 Park Plaza, Boston.

The exhibit is free and open to the public Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Saturday and Sunday from noon to 4 p.m.

Music students give recital

Students from the Merrimack Valley presented two recitals Feb. 9 at Memorial Hall Library. The musical presentations included performances on piano, violin and cello, as well as ensemble pieces. Each recital was followed by a reception.

Andover students who participated in the programs were Leah Bonner, Biana Fay, Fair Maclaren, Vanessa and Olivia Scarbeau, Alaina Schroeder and Abby Speiler.

In March, students of teachers who belong to the Merrimack Valley Music Teachers Association will participate in a master class.

And in April more than 100 students will perform and receive evaluations in the annual Music Festival at the University of Massachusetts at Lowell. For more information, call Margo Higgins at 683-7033, or Kate Benson at 470-0728.

Leona Lauder marries George Schwab

Leona Lamont Lauder and George M. Schwab were married July 10 at Union Chapel in North Hampton, N.H., by Dr. Henry J. Stonie of Hampton, N.H.

The bride is the daughter of Gordon and Ruth Lauder of Hampton and Jensen Beach, Fla., formerly of Andover; the groom is the son of Mildred Schwab of Middleton, Wis., and the late Joseph Schwab.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride was attended by her sister, Kathy L. Byron of Jensen Beach, as matron of honor.

Thomas Schwab of Middleton was his brother's best man. Col. Keith F. Lauder, brother of the bride, who is stationed at Barksdale Air Force Base in Shreveport, La., was the usher.

Stephen M. Byron, the bride's nephew, was a ring bearer.

Music was provided by organist Frank Mossman.

The bride wore a white cotton brocade dress with a pearl- and sequin-headed fitted bodice, fashioned with a dropped waist and bouffant skirt. Her headpiece was a band of satin and pearls, and she carried a cascade of white roses accented with pink.

The reception was held at Abe-nauqui Country Club in Rye, N.H.

Leona L. Lauder and George M. Schwab

The couple took a wedding trip to Maine, Quebec and Montreal.

The bride earned her bachelor of arts degree in zoology from the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor and her law degree from Suffolk University Law School in Boston. She is a solo practitioner in intellectual property law.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of Notre Dame, where he obtained his bachelor of science in 1965 and his master's in 1968.

After graduating from the University of West Los Angeles Law School, he is now a managing partner of Townsend and Townsend, an intellectual property law firm in San Francisco, Calif.

The couple lives in Mill Valley, Calif.

Angela E. McEwan

Couple plans May wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Donald McEwan of Salem, Mass., announce the engagement of their daughter, Angela E., to Glen P. Markey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Markey of 48 Chestnut St.

Ms. McEwan is a graduate of Salem High School and Northeastern University. She is a mechanical engineer at Metcalf and Eddy. Mr. Markey, a graduate of Andover High School, is vice president of J&M Professional Painting.

A May 16 wedding is planned.

Gardening columnist speaks to club

The Andover Garden Club will hold its monthly meeting Tuesday, March 3, at 12:30 p.m. at the Unitarian Universalist Church on Locke Street.

"Design Concepts of the Perennial Garden" will be presented by guest speaker Leo Blanchette. Mr. Blanchette's program will consist of a slide lecture with emphasis on new plants that grow best in this area.

Garden club members and guests will have an opportunity to ask questions during the program.

Mr. Blanchette operates a nursery in Carlisle where he grows both common and uncommon perennials with special emphasis on the unusual and different.

He writes a column that appears four times a year in Better Homes and Gardens "Garden Ideas," "Outdoor Living" section under "Ask Leo," which is written in question-and-answer format.

The guest speaker has taught numerous courses and has lectured at the Harvard School of Design, Arnold Arboretum, New England Wild Flower Society and the Massachusetts Horticulture Society.

In his personal gardens, he grows more than 3,500 different perennials.

Claire Syiek will serve as chairwoman for the meeting. Carol Hopkinson will create the tea table design, and Kay Diamantas and Dianne Mayberry will serve as hostesses.

Non-members who want to attend Tuesday's meeting should call Edith King. Her phone number is 475-7596.

Andover High alumna is wed

Stephanie Jeanne Patten, daughter of Richard and Michele Patten of West Gloucester, formerly of Andover, and Richard Querci, son of Joseph and Rose Querci Jr. of North Andover, were married Nov. 10 at Our Lady of Good Voyage Church in Gloucester.

The Rev. Eugene L. Alves performed the double-ring ceremony.

Jennifer Dziadosz of Andover served as her sister's matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Susan Humphreys of Wakefield, cousin of the bride; Lisa Moriarty and Stefanie Querci, both of North Andover, sisters of the groom; and Lara Stawasz of Nashua, N.H. Maura Mahoney, godchild and cousin of the bride, was flower girl.

Joseph Querci III of North Andover, brother of the groom, was best man. Ushers were John Barrett, Gregg Burzynski, John Crawley and Ken Long, all from North Andover, and Christopher Patten of Andover, brother of the bride. Brian Mahoney, cousin of the bride, served as ring bearer.

The bride is a 1985 graduate of Andover High School and 1989 graduate of St. Anselm College. She is account manager at Alpha Omega Sales Corp. in North Reading.

The groom is a 1982 graduate of North Andover High School. He is chef/manager of the Barnside Restaurant in North Reading.

Richard and Stephanie Querci

Julie Boland of Andover was in charge of the guest book at the reception for 230 people at the Tavern on the Harbor in Gloucester.

After two weeks on the Hawaiian islands, the couple lives in North Reading.

Couple marries at St. Robert's

Arlene Mary Ciaccia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Ciaccia of 9 Exeter Way, and Lawrence P. Viens Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence P. Viens Sr. of Methuen, were married May 25.

The ceremony was performed at St. Robert Bellarmine Church in Andover by the Rev. Arthur Driscoll, pastor.

The bride was attended by her sister Michele Ciaccia of Andover as maid of honor. Her bridesmaids were Kathy Ciaccia of Andover, her sister; Colleen Masterson of Cinnaminson, N.J., her cousin; Lori and Maryellen Viens of Methuen, sisters of the groom; and Kristen Duffy, Karen Gray and Melissa Marquis, all of Andover.

Stephen Viens of Portsmouth, N.H., was his brother's best man. Serving as ushers were Michael Hanagan of Salem, N.H.; Jay Markey and Bill Morris of Andover, the groom's cousins; Mark Prunier of Lawrence; Michael Norton and Tom Regan, both of Methuen; and Otis Veilleux of Framingham.

The bride graduated from Andover High School in 1986 and Tufts University in 1990. She is an electrical engineer at Raytheon Co.

The groom, a 1982 graduate of Greater

Arlene and Lawrence Viens Jr.

Lawrence Technical School, is the head cashier at DeMoulas Market Basket.

Andona plans gala fashion show

The Andona Society will present its spring fashion show Thursday, March 12, at the Rolling Green Host Hotel on Lowell Street.

A social hour will run from 6:30 to 7:15 p.m. This will be followed by a full-course meal and the fashion show. During social hour tables will display crafts and hand-made jewelry by Andover women.

Participating in "Downtown Fashion with an Uptown Flair" will be 10 downtown Andover shops: Courtney's Collections, Gardenia Boutique, Ginny's, Kaleidoscope, Madeline and Pollard, The Abbey, The Taylor Shop, Vena Coco, Yankee Lady and Young Fashions.

All proceeds will go directly to the club fund to benefit the youth of Andover and surrounding area. This has been Andona's primary goal since its founding as a women's civic organization 40 years ago.

Tickets will be $35. For ticket reservations, call Barbara Batson at 470-0605. Tickets will not be available at the door.

UU churches join for service

The Unitarian Universalist churches of Andover, North Andover, Haverhill and Newburyport will celebrate their annual Association Sunday on March 1.

The churches, continuing a tradition of more than two decades, take turns hosting the event. This year the service will be at the Unitarian Universalist Church of Haverhill, 15 Kenoza Ave.

Interim Minister David B. Parke will represent Andover; Allan Heifetz will represent North Parish Church in North Andover; Rev. Bertrand Steeves will represent Newburyport; and Rev. Janet H. Bowering will represent the Haverhill church.

The Rev. Dr. Dorothy Tilden Spoerl, a pioneer in the liberal religious education movement, will be the guest minister. Rev. Spoerl was born in 1906, received a master of arts degree in religious education in 1928 and was ordained to the Universalist ministry in 1929. She received a doctorate in psychology from Clark University in 1942.

The minister has been a leader of religious education programs, a teacher in a two-room country school and at American International College.

In 1974 she received a doctor of sacred theology from Starr King, and in 1979 Meadville/Lombard presented her with a doctor of divinity degree.

She was given the annual Award for Distinguished Service to the Cause of Unitarian Universalism in 1987 by the Unitarian Universalist Association. The award reads, in part: "As a minister, psychologist, educator, author, teacher and ardent member, you have advanced the cause of liberal religion, bringing keen intellect, verve and encyclopedic knowledge to the life of congregations."

Children will participate in the first part of the service, and Dr. Spoerl will read a story she has written. Then there will be seven activities for children symbolizing the seven Unitarian Universalist principles.

All youth group members will get together for a social time and an exchange of ideas during the adult service. Child care with age-appropriate activities for children through age 4 will be provided.

Services begin at 10:30 a.m. Parents with preschoolers are requested to arrive by 10:20 a.m. A coffee hour will follow the service. The public is invited.

Franciscan Center hosts women's retreat

Day retreats for women are offered at the Franciscan Center in Andover on the second Wednesday of each month.

Scholarship offered

Applications are being taken for West Parish Church's William Albert Trow Scholarship Fund. Applicants must be 21 years old or younger and a resident of Andover.

While preference will be given to members and those associated with West Parish Church, the fund is open to town residents.

Application forms may be picked up at the church office Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Completed applications are due by April 3.

Choir rehearses

The choir at West Parish Church, under the direction of Joyce Painter Rice, is practicing Franz Schubert's Mass in G to be sung at the Palm Sunday service April 12 at 10:30 a.m.

Singers who would like to join this musical endeavor are invited to weekly rehearsals on Wednesdays at 8 p.m. in the choir room in Fellowship Hall, next to the church.

Here's why we read the ANDOVER TOWNSMAN

"I'm from Wakefield and Andover is like my second home. I read the Townsmen to keep up with current events around town. It's a good way to know who's doing what and who said what."
Julie Curtis, Coach of Girls Gymnastics

"I like to read the sports section to find out how the different teams are doing in town. Sometimes people I know are on the front page, so I'm always checking to see if friends of mine are in the photo."
Jeff Davis, West Middle School 7th grader

Greek church celebrates beginning of Lent season

The Greek Ladies
Philoptochos Society
"Myrofori" of Sts.
Constantine and Helen Greek Orthodox Church has finalized plans for its annual Apokreatiko Glendi.

The celebration will be held Saturday, Feb. 29, from 8 p.m. to midnight at the Hellenic Community Center, 71 Chandler Road.

Greek and American music for dancing will be provided by Rhapsody.

An "Apokreatiko Glendi" is a final celebration or carnival that occurs just before the beginning of the Great Lent, explained chapter president Elaine Kevgas. The Great
Lent for the Greek Orthodox Church begins Monday, March 9, this year, with Easter Sunday celebrated April 26.

"The Glendi marks the last time people feast before a period of fasting begins," Ms. Kevgas said. "A common translation is the French term 'Mardi Gras.'"

Costumes are encouraged, and prizes will be awarded to the adult and child wearing the best costume. Coffee and pastry will be included in the admission ticket, which is $7 per adult and $3 per child. Tickets are available by calling the church office and will also be sold at the door.

The event is co-chaired by Carol Christakos and Despina Mastorakis, who are assisted by Ms. Kevgas, Helen Doikos, Diane Mimi-nos, E. Dee Stasen, Katherine Kevgas,

THE REAL ESTATE CORNER

with Jean Fitzgerald &
Pamela Lebowitz
HOW TO
OFFERS

When faced with multiple offers, how do you pick and choose among them? Your Realtor can help by setting up a chart comparing the main features of each proposal.

First there's the price.
Consider the closing costs
you may be asked to pay.
Be sure you understand any terms that might reduce your net profit. Can you work out a mutually agreeable date for you to move out and for the new buyers to move in? How clean is each offer? Do the buyers have another property to sell before they can settle on yours? Can you get reasonable assurances that the buyers will be able to qualify for the financing they will need?

Your Realtor can help you weigh the relative merits of each offer. They can accept or counter the best one, and perhaps line up one of the other offers as an alternative.

Sandra N. Goldberg, 54 Longtime Bancroft teacher

Sandra Norma (Tye) Goldberg, 54, of 26 Smithshire Estates died Sunday, Feb. 23, at Brigham and Women's Hospital in Boston after a long battle with cancer.

Mrs. Goldberg was a teacher at Bancroft Elementary School for 24 years.

"She was a warm, loving, dedicated educator and a great friend," said Sheila Dzieman, who taught first grade at Bancroft with Mrs. Goldberg for 12 years.

"We had a ceremony at the school for her this week, and some of her first-graders got up and told what they remembered about Mrs. Goldberg. One little girl said she liked Mrs. Goldberg's hugs 'because she always hugged you back,'" Mrs. Dzieman said.

Mrs. Goldberg was born in Haverhill and graduated from Haverhill High School. She received a bachelor's degree in education from Syracuse University and a master's degree from Boston University.

Mrs. Goldberg was on the board of directors of Temple Emanuel Nursery School. She was also a member of the Massachusetts Teachers Association and Hadassah.

Members of her family include her husband, Robert Goldberg of Andover; son and daughter-in-law, Richard and Marina Bosy-Goldberg of Menlo Park, Calif.; daughters, Lee-Anne Goldberg of Andover and Paula Goldberg of New York City. She was also the sister of the late Alan Tye of Haverhill.

Services were held Tuesday at Temple Emanuel. Burial was in Temple Emanuel Cemetery. Condolence calls may be made at her residence through Thursday evening.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Jimmy Fund, 44 Binney St., Boston, Mass. 02115.

Walter Durkin Jr., 36

DeMoulas vice president

Walter B. Durkin Jr., who rose from a bagger at DeMoulas Market Basket to vice president of the company, died Monday, Feb. 24, at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, Md.

Mr. Durkin, 36, of Shawsheen Road, had been a patient at Dana Farber Cancer Institute in Boston this past year. He was then transferred to Johns Hopkins Hospital, where he succumbed to complications from a bone marrow transplant.

Mr. Durkin had been associated with DeMoulas Market Basket supermarket chain for the past 20 years and was widely known and respected in the entire food industry.

He started off as part-time employee in high school and worked there while a student at Lowell High and the University of Lowell.

After graduating from ULowell with a bachelor of science degree in management, he joined the company as head cashier.

Mr. Durkin then climbed the ranks from assistant store manager to store manager to front end supervisor. He had been vice president for about a year.

"He was an unusual and extraordinary individual," said Bill Marsden, senior vice president of operations at DeMoulas. Mr. Marsden attributed his colleague's success to his "integrity, loyalty and dedication," and added that he "had a great capacity to be able to communicate."

Mr. Durkin was responsible for 8,000 employees in 47 stores throughout the state.

"It really was a pleasure to work with him," Mr. Marsden said.

Walter B. Durkin Jr.

"He had unexhausting energy. He was a very serious individual. He loved his job. He did most everything better than most."

Mr. Marsden said Mr. Durkin was well-liked by his colleagues.

"We sincerely miss him, not only a co-worker, but also as a friend," he said.

Mr. Durkin was a communicant of St. Augustine Church, where he was also an usher.

He was the son of Walter B. and RoseAnne (Cox) Durkin, lifelong residents of Lowell. Mr. Durkin and his wife, Nancy J. (Bartlett) Durkin, were about to celebrate their 10th wedding anniversary. They have three children, Lindsey L., 7; Ryan W., 5; and Brad B., 4.

He is also survived by his brother and sister-in-law, David P. and Patricia Durkin of Nashua, N.H.; sisters and brothers-in-law, Brenda A. and Joseph Buckley of Chelmsford, Elizabeth A. and Mark Quimby,

Kevin P. Paszko, 29 Electrical engineer

Kevin P. Paszko, 29, of Haverhill died Saturday, Feb. 22, after a head-on collision in Lowell. He was on his way home after visiting a friend.

Mr. Paszko was an athlete who loved spending time with family and friends. While a student at Haverhill High School, he competed on soccer and wrestling teams. He also enjoyed body building, skiing and other sports.

Mr. Paszko was born in Haverhill Aug. 22, 1962. After graduating from Haverhill High in 1980, he earned a bachelor's degree in electrical engineering from the University of Massachusetts at Amherst.

He was employed by Open Software Foundation of Cambridge, where he was recently promoted to technical lead administrator.

He was a member of St. Michael Parish in Haverhill and the Association of Electrical Engineers.

Family members include his parents, Edwin F. Sr. and Stella M. (Crisa) Paszko; brother and sister-in-law, Edwin Jr. and Diane L. Paszko; niece and nephew, Ashley and Brian Paszko; paternal grandfather, Frank Paszko, all of Haverhill; maternal grandmother, Jennie Crisa of Andover; and several aunts, uncles, cousins and friends.

Funeral services were Tuesday at Scata-macchia Funeral Home in Haverhill. A funeral Mass followed at St. Michael Church. Burial was in St. Michael's Cemetery in Haverhill.

TOWNTALK

NHK, Japanese Broadcasting Corp., was in town Wednesday, Feb. 13, to talk about the recession with members of WIND. Wednesday is Networking Day, an Andover support group for unemployed executives.

The television company was doing a story on how the recession in the United States will affect Japan because the upper middle class has stopped purchasing VCRs, televisions and other Japanese-made products, according to Lynn Frank, researcher for the Japanese company.

But Lee Kirkwood, WIND organizer, said Tak Ichinose, the NHK interviewer, was very negative and only wanted people to blame the government for the recession and their hardships. Had he known NHK's intentions, Mr. Kirkwood said he would not have encouraged the company to talk with WIND members.

"It really was a very negative thing," Mr. Kirkwood said.

The piece was to air in Japan last week during a program on the U.S. presidential elections.

WIND was formed in November of 1990 to offer support and help finding employment to executives who had been laid off. Unfortunately, the number of those in attendance at the weekly meetings is still growing, according to Mr. Kirkwood.

"In the last two weeks it's been over 200," Mr. Kirkwood said last week.

The group meets at 10 a.m. Wednesdays at the Franciscan Center, 475 River Road.

Thayer Warshaw, of 45 Clark Road, phoned to tell us he and his wife, Bernice, received a nice letter from Rabbi Harry A. Roth of Miles Circle. The rabbi, former head of Temple Emanuel, and his wife, Lillian Roth, are on a 100-day-around-the-world cruise aboard the QE2. Mr. Warshaw, a friend of the Roths for many years, said he and several others received the newsy letter.

"We are enjoying this experience beyond description," Rabbi Roth wrote on day 29 of the trip. He said the trip was "totally unexpected" for the Roths. Apparently, the Jewish chaplain who was scheduled to be aboard couldn't, so Rabbi Roth was asked in his place.

He wrote his friends that there are many Jewish people on the cruise, which is not at full-capacity booking. The rabbi said 40 to 50 people attend the Jewish Friday-night services in the ship's synagogue. This is the only cruise ship that has a synagogue, according to the rabbi. It

One policeman's salary breaks $100,000 mark

This is the fifth part in a series on town employee salaries the Townsman will run before April Town Meeting. This list is just a portion of the total town payroll. These figures, unlike the figures in the four previous installments, are for calendar year 1991.

By Don Staruk

Police Lt. Steven Avery has the dubious distinction of being the first Andover police employee to earn more than $100,000 in a single calendar year.

Lt. Avery earned $104,092.22 in 1991. His pay included a $64,962.40 salary, $20,447.80 in overtime and $18,682.02 in detail pay.

Details are paid, for the most part, by private companies that hire police to direct traffic or provide security for an event.

Chief James Johnson was the second highest paid police employee in 1991 with a straight salary of $88,720.05. He was followed by former Lt. Donald Mooers Jr. who earned a total of $87,302.98.

Lt. Mooers retired Dec. 17, one day before he was indicted in Salem Superior Court on charges of incest. His position was not filled and has been cut from next year's budget proposal.

Two sergeants also earned more than $80,000. Sgt. George Miller earned $84,828.41, and Sgt. Detective Kevin Winters earned $80,478.72.

Detectives, like Sgt. Winters, are paid slightly more than the straight rank salary. Patrolmen Kevin Burke, David Grant, James Egret, Joseph Hastings, Charles Heseltine and Donald Pattullo also worked as detectives in 1991.

Patrolmen Brian McAnally and Joseph Thibodeau were laid off at the end of June, 1991. The two officers have since been hired as patrolmen in North Reading.

Patrolmen Fred Sunderland has been out on a disability since 1988.

Patrolmen's contract

Police patrolmen have been working without a contract since July of 1989 and their earnings do not reflect retroactive raises they may be entitled to when, or if, a contract is signed. Sergeants and lieutenants do have a contract.

Officers and town officials said again this week that a patrolmen's contract agreement is "a breath away." Selectmen went into executive session Monday night to discuss the latest negotiations. Patrolmen have scheduled a meeting for March 10 to present the latest settlement offer to union members for a possible vote.

The current contract negotiations are for a three-year contract that would end this June 30. Sergeant and lieutenant contracts also end June 30 and no money has been included in the budget for any raises in fiscal 1992, which begins July 1.

The Master Plan is near completion

adoption of a final draft of the plan is scheduled for March 24.

Mr. O'Brien pledged last year to have a Master Plan adopted by the board before this year's Town Meeting. Now that it is nearly done, Mr. O'Brien said he is satisfied the plan will be a valuable tool for the town.

"It's nice to have this plan done and to have it there to use as a tool to refer back to," Mr. O'Brien said. "We'll actually have a plan thought about before hand."

Harry Smith, the town planner who coordinated the Master Plan effort, said the plan is "a real depth of description of the town."

"It takes a lot of information and sort of pulls it together in one place," Mr. Smith said.

But he agreed with Susan Stott, Planning Board member, that rather than make specific recommendations, the plan is "generic and general."

"There's nothing really outrageous proposed in it," Mr. Smith said.

The Master Plan will be useful when planners attempt to rewrite the zoning bylaw later this year, according to planners. It will also be used in reviewing those parts of town still undeveloped, according to Mr. O'Brien.

"We will plan how those areas should be developed," he said.

The shortage of developable land means more proposals will be made to redevelop existing buildings and to change current uses. The Master Plan will serve as a "safeguard" to protect the town's interests in those situations, Mr. O'Brien said.

The open space element will be useful to the Conservation Commission. The Zoning Board of Appeals should also find some direction in the plan, Mr. O'Brien said.

The plan ties in the Capital Improvement Plan, drawn up by the town manager and accepted by selectmen last December, regarding things such as school buildings and water and sewer updates. The 21st century planning the selectmen are working on is also taken into account.

State law

The revised Master Plan is not totally new, but is an updated version of what Planning Board member Susan Stott called the "living" Master Plan, a compilation of previous master plans, studies and updated utility plans.

The last official Master Plan done by the town was in 1965, according to Mr. Smith. A growth plan was worked on in the mid 1970s but did not result in an official Master Plan, and a third effort, in 1983-'84, completed a draft, but still no plan.

In 1989, a draft Master Plan was updated with current population and economic statistics and included input from public meetings with community groups and town boards. But disagreement over what an official Master Plan should be always kept one from being officially completed, Mr. Smith said.

That changed at the end of 1990 when the state changed the laws pertaining to Master Plans.

"They defined the plan for the first time," Mr. Smith said.

The state had always said towns had to have a Master Plan, but never defined what one should include. The 1990 state revision was very specific.

Andover's 1989 working plan was not far off from what the state required. Planners reworked it and added what was needed.

"I think the state did us an enormous favor in spelling out what should be in a Master Plan," Ms. Stott said.

In the future, the state could require towns to have Master Plans to get some types of state aid, according to Mr. Smith. But that is not likely to be soon because the state did not provide any money for towns to update the plans when it revised the law. If the current Master Plan proposal is adopted, and kept up to date, Andover will be ready if and when the state, or federal government, makes having one a requirement to receive aid.

The goals

"The overall focus and objective of the town's Master Plan is growth management," the latest draft reads.

The future growth of the town should be managed to accommodate the rights of private property owners to develop their land while preserving the natural environment, town character and quality of life, through enforcement of land development regulations and promotion of controls to ensure a balance between growth and the town's fiscal well being, according to the stated goal.

"The town should continue to maintain a diversified tax base in order to provide an acceptable level of services and facilities for current and future citizens; to encourage a variety of housing to give citizens more choice and opportunities in how and where they would like to live; to support efforts for preserving the town's natural resources; and to ensure that the transportation system sufficiently supports current and future growth."

The plan consists of nine parts, including elements on:

- Goals and policies;
- Land use;
- Housing;
- Economic Development;
- Natural and Cultural Resources;
- Open Space and Recreation;
- Services and Facilities;
- Circulation;
- Implementation.

"The crux of it is the land-use plan," Mr. Smith said.

The land-use plan details the physical development of the community. The plan assumes existing zoning, generally, but Mr. Smith said some changes of use may be recommended, particularly regarding commercial development.

"Commercial development in general is kind of small for a town of this size," Mr. Smith said.

More retail use may be recommended in some of the industrial zones, he said.

The Master Plan does not deal with the issue of whether to expand the Central Business District.

The entire Master Plan was compiled in house by town planners without early consultants. In comparison, Haverhill spent a $100,000 grant to develop a Master Plan and still hasn't got one, Mr. Smith said.

Selectmen consider sale of town land

By Don Staruk

Selectmen are reviewing the town's policy regarding the sale of municipal property in response to two recent requests by residents to purchase parcels of town property.

One of the unnamed residents is interested in a parcel on River Road. He wants the land as security in case his septic system fails and he has to build a new one. Selectmen did not specify what other land was asked about.

In 1989, planners compiled a list of 450 municipally-owned properties for Ken Mahony, then town manager, following similar requests. There was some consideration given to using the money from any land sales to establish a trust fund that could be used to build or buy affordable housing.

Parcels owned by the town with the Housing Authority, the Andover Village Improvement Society, the Conservation Commission and The Trustees of Reservations were then excluded. The list was further narrowed by eliminating open space properties.

The result was a list of 33 properties ranging from 2,000 square feet to 2.5 acres, according to a report compiled by Stephen Colyer, planning director.

That list was presented to board members last week for consideration. It does not include the River Road parcel in question. Some questions remain on whether that particular parcel is conservation land, according to Mr. Colyer.

Selectmen have not made a decision to sell anything yet, but they did ask Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski to have Mike Muise, town treasurer, come to their next meeting on March 2 to explain the process of selling town land.

The list of the 33 clear parcels, by address, lot size in square-feet, and 1989 assessment, includes:

- 15 Heather Drive, 14,576, $57,900;
- Juliette Street (off), 24,394, $105,400;
- 440 N. Main St., 3,882, $13,600;
- Topping Road, 17,859, $15,000;

- 164-170 Chandler Road, 55,757, $90,200.

Officials order Petro's to stop serving meals

Petro's Seafoods and Deli, 16 Post Office Ave., received a cease-and-desist order early this week, ordering the business to stop serving cooked luncheons and dinners.

Its license, according to building department personnel, is only for retail sales, not restaurant business.

But Nicholas Valhouli, owner, told the Townsmen Wednesday that he has been serving meals for the five years he has been open.

"All I did was extend my hours," said Mr. Valhouli. "Because I decided to throw some linen on the table instead of cotton," the town is trying to close him down.

Building inspectors warned Mr. Valhouli he was in violation four to five months ago, according to Michael Buss, building inspector. "We told him he could not do this without going to the Board of Appeals," said Mr. Buss.

Mr. Valhouli said he will appear before the Zoning Board of Appeals at its next meeting to apply for the proper permits.

Still seeking a new senior center location

The selectmen all agreed that if the center is moved it would have to be to a location large enough to house all programs, including daycare for the elderly.

The School Committee originally proposed to split up the Senior Center and place the elderly daycare program in unused space at Andover High School and house the remaining program at Old Town Hall on Main Street, which is too small to house both.

"Yes, we see a need for the building as a central school. There has been a renewal of younger families with children in the downtown area, but the question still remains. How do we solve the Senior-Center problem?" asked Selectman Larry Larsen, who is the board's liaison to both the School Committee and the Senior Center.

School Committee Chairman Christopher Outwin said his board needs a commitment from the selectmen on the Senior Center space by March 15, so planning for renovations and redistricting can begin.

He said if the selectmen commit to moving the center, then the top two floors of the building, currently used by school administrators, could house some kindergarten students as early as next September. The remaining central school students would be phased in during the following two years once the Senior Center relocates, he said.

Dr. Outwin said the central school plan would cost the town approximately $2 million, not including relocating the Senior Center. School administration offices, now on the top two floors of the building, would move to the Shawsheen School, he said.

Other options to alleviate overcrowding that did not involve moving the Senior Center were considered, said Dr. Outwin, but each would cost at least three times as much as the central school plan.

"I see this as chance to find a permanent home for the seniors. Not one that could be taken away," as the case is today, said Dr. Larsen.

Selectman James Barenboim said he supports finding a new, larger and permanent location for the Senior Center.

"We have to look at this as an opportunity to give the seniors the home they deserve. When I drive through Methuen and I see what they have for their seniors, I'm embarrassed. We've moved (the center location) all through town," Mr. Barenboim said, referring to the former Senior Center locations on Barnard and Essex streets.

Although Charlie Wesson agreed with his fellow selectmen's assessment that a new Senior Center would be a great asset to the town, he reminded the board and School Committee representatives, Dr. Outwin and Susan Dalton, that there isn't any space that he knows of downtown that would be large enough to house the many programs the center runs.

"We have a big problem here and you're asking us to solve that in 20

'I see this as chance to find a permanent home for the seniors. Not one that could be taken away.'

Selectman Larry Larsen

days," Mr. Wesson said.

Ms. Dalton said the March 15 deadline isn't an effort to rush the selectmen into making a hard and fast decision on the permanent site of a new Senior Center. But, she said, the committee does need to know by then if the selectmen are willing to vacate the space and find a new location within the next two years.

"We have a lot more cooperating to do with the selectmen and a lot more plans to work on before a deal is struck for a new Senior Center, but we are hopeful," Dr. Outwin told the Townsmen Tuesday.

Even if the selectmen don't give the School Committee a commitment on when it might be willing to move the center, Dr. Outwin said a short-term plan will have to be found to alleviate overcrowding in some elementary schools next year. South, West and Sanborn elementary schools are either at their maximum capacities or will be within the next two years.

Selectmen Chairman Jerry Silverman told the Townsmen Tuesday he doesn't believe his board will be able to give the School Committee a commitment for the space by March 15.

"Our philosophy has always been we'll move the Senior Center only if we can find a location that is as good or better," he said.

Mr. Silverman said it will be the town manager's job now to be looking for suitable locations for a new Senior Center.

During Monday night's selectmen's meeting, Ted O'Brien, Shipman Road, a member of the School Committee's subcommittee studying redistricting possibilities to form a central school neighborhood, suggested the selectmen consider the former bowling alley on Park Street as a new location for the Senior Center.

"It is vacant and right now it is an eyesore," Mr. O'Brien said.

Mr. Silverman said that building isn't owned by the town and he couldn't comment further on the building. The town's policy is not to comment on matters under litigation.

The owners of the former bowling alley are suing the town, alleging the town has used unfair building requirements to keep them from developing the property.

"We'll do our best to work with the School Committee and find a solution to both problems, but I doubt very much if we'll be able to give them a decision in 20 days," Mr. Silverman said Tuesday.

Redistricting subcommittee

The subcommittee assigned to plan redistricting for a central school neighborhood addressed the School Committee Tuesday night and said it would have to have a relocation decision for the Senior Center no later than December of this year.

As Tuesday evening's meeting progressed, members of the committee joked about the many plans to relocate the Senior Center. Dick Hubbel, who has always considered the Shawsheen Extended Daycare program to be a form of town-subsidized daycare, which he opposes, joked, "We could always put the seniors in the SHED (portable) building, get a municipal maintenance truck and keep them moving around town."

Mr. Hubbel received a few laughs as well as a few distaining looks.

"Don't take me seriously," he quickly shot back. "I was just kidding."

If the School Committee is guaranteed the use of all three floors of the east wing of the former East Junior High School building, the School Committee hopes to implement the following plan drawn up by the subcommittee for redistricting:

- Students in grades K-2 from the South School neighborhood of Greenwood Road, Lupine Road to South Main Street would be redistricted to Bancroft School. (Apx. 72 students.)

- K-2 students in the Sanborn neighborhood of Heritage Road, Dascomb Road, Crestwood, Russett, Germano to Partridge Hill roads would be redistricted to South School. (Apx. 27 students.)

- Kindergarten students who would be in the central school district would attend classes in two under-utilized rooms at the Doherty Middle School next September. (Apx. 80 students.)

- The Shawsheen program would remain for one more year as it is.

For the 1993-'94 school year

Assuming the top two floors of the building are available:

- Kindergarten students would remain at Doherty Middle School.

- Grades 1-4 of the newly formed central district would move to the top two floor of the new central school.

Central district lines would run from the Lawrence and North Andover town lines, South along Route 28 and would include some roads immediately west of Route 28 and end where School Street intersects Route 28.

1994-'95 School Year

Assuming all three floors of the central building are available:

- All six grades will be housed in the new central school, but fifth-graders affected by redistricting would have the option to remain in their previous schools.

- Middle school feeder patterns would go into effect: Sanborn and West Elementary district students would enter West Middle. Bancroft, South and central students would enter Doherty Middle School. Those eighth-graders whose districts changed would have the option to attend the middle school of their choice.

When motorists pass a stopped school bus . . .

By Lisa Boudreau

Every school day, Pam Stumpf, 19 Fleming Ave., walks her 6-year-old daughter to the bus stop on the corner of Haverhill and Fleming Streets.

Mrs. Stumpf has been infuriated by the number of cars that pass the stopped school bus.

"The bus lights are on and the red stop sign is extended, but cars still pass it," she said.

"It isn't like the cars skim by, they floor it. I'd say at least 75 percent of the cars I see pass the school bus. I cannot understand a responsible person passing a school bus that is clearly dropping off children that have to cross in front of it," she said.

Carol Znamierowski, director of transportation for the school system, said bus drivers are asked to copy down the license plate numbers of the cars they see passing their buses. Ms. Znamierowski then sends the numbers to the Andover police. "I send a couple (license plate) numbers each week. We even get them from cars passing buses in the school yard," Ms. Znamierowski said.

She said her department tries to establish bus stops on the right side of roads to eliminate as many crossings in front of buses as possible.

Having police cruisers is not always the best way to catch offenders, she said. When staff from the Registry of Motor Vehicles rides on the buses, they have the authority to levy fines on the operators of cars they see passing the buses.

Once the numbers are passed along to the Andover police, a computer check is run on the numbers to cross reference other possible violations, said Officer Bob Cronin.

"We then mail (the registered owner of the car) a letter, stating that their car was observed passing a school bus and informing them of the fines they could face if they violate the law again," he said.

Because no police or registry official actually witnesses the crime, the police cannot take further action other than sending a warning letter, said Officer Cronin.

Two months ago the law changed and now passing a school bus stopped to pick up or unload children is a civil violation that could cost the offender up to $1,000.

Up until January of 1992, passing a school bus was a criminal offense and violators had to go before a judge, who could choose to fine or not fine an offender any amount.

Under the current law, a first-time offender is fined $200. The fine is increased to $400 for two-time offenders and to $1,000 for a three-time offender.

EDITORIALS

Mark your calendar

Some important debates and meetings are coming up. Start with tonight. At 7:30 at Shawsheen School, the four candidates for the School Committee are going to debate.

This is residents' chance to ask the candidates where they stand on important issues such as redistricting. Since the schools' budget is the largest part of the town's financial pie, the actions of those serving on the School Committee directly affects all of us, whether or not we have children in classes here.

FinCom talks

On March 4, the Finance Committee will discuss the schools' budget. The FinCom will have completed its budget discussions and make recommendations by March 20. There is a story on page 3 of today's Townsmen, explaining which FinCom member is responsible for knowing the ins and outs of each town department.

The FinCom only makes recommendations on how its members believe those at Town Meeting should vote, but those are important recommendations and discussions at those meetings can be very revealing.

Caucus

Town Democrats caucus this Saturday at 2 p.m. at Andover High School's cafeteria. Any registered Democrat is welcome to attend that meeting and any Democrat who wishes to be a delegate to the May Democratic State Convention must be at this caucus and elected a delegate there.

Of course there are School Committee meetings and Board of Selectmen meetings. A person could spend almost every evening catching up on political and business issues. No one wants to do that, but every adult should choose at least one issue in which he or she is interested and become informed.

It pays to be informed, and that is our privilege in this country. See you at the next meeting.

Jack Lemmon chatted with the press and students and faculty at Phillips Academy last Friday. He was relaxed, charming and witty, and a good subject to photograph because he is so animated.

Jack Lemmon: a regular kind of fellow

By Perry Colmore Catlin

Jack Lemmon surprised me, I admit. Even though I am a fan, I expected he would be full of himself and hard to take. I discovered the opposite last week, when the 67-year-old award-winning actor/producer/director spent the day at Phillips Academy.

He is warm, relaxed, "normal," and he talked about his father, a very important figure in his life, life at Phillips, from which he is a 1943 graduate, and he talked about working with different actors and actresses, including Marilyn Monroe and Shirley Maclaine. He was charming, articulate and entertaining. He spoke with the press, some faculty, staff and students for 90 minutes last Friday afternoon.

Mr. Lemmon was here to attend the school's inaugural mainstage performance of Into the Woods, a Stephen Sondheim and James Lapine play produced at PA by a group of students, faculty and staff to open the newly renovated theater complex at George Washington Hall. After seeing the production at opening night Friday, Mr. Lemmon said he would never have attempted to produce or direct the play, that it was too difficult, too confusing, and he congratulated and embraced director Mike Brown.

Mr. Lemmon was co-chairman with Cambridge attorney Melville Chapin of a $12-million fund-raising effort for the expansion of the building. Mr. Lemmon contributed a dressing room.

Dressed in a gray suit, blue shirt and red necktie, and looking fit, relaxed and tan, Mr. Lemmon sat on the steps going up to the stage of Kemper Auditorium last Friday, taking questions from fans and press people. Here's what he said.

PA advantages

"I am stunned by some of the changes here," said Mr. Lemmon, who has not been back to PA since the late '40s. During the interview he often gushed about the school and the advantages its students have. "It blew my mind how it has expanded," and he mentioned computers and the new theater.

PA's influence on him

Mr. Lemmon, a Massachusetts native, called his years at PA "maybe the most important years of my life, personally and in my career." He said his foundations were laid by the school and his parents, "whom I adored."

"It shaped all my morals and priorities. There was a level of behavior expected of students and a sense of priorities instilled that I never lost."

He said separating boys from girls in school isn't necessary today. "Before, it used to be, 'Gee, I can't wait 'till the end of the semester so I can see a girl.'"

Mr. Lemmon said PA students didn't go downtown here very often, but when they did, it was to Doc's, on Main Street, near the Andover Shop, to enjoy a hamburger. Sometimes he and his friends would ski to Doc's, and one time his skis were stolen, which he didn't dare tell his father for two years.

His father

Mr. Lemmon spoke often of his father, who was a baker. He said boarding school was not a tradition in his family, but his father "was trying to afford me an education he didn't get. He never would really fess up, but I think he didn't graduate from high school; he had to go to work."

The actor had a son who did not go to Phillips Academy. "I didn't think he was right for Andover."

Becoming an actor

"From the time I was 8 years old, I knew I wanted to be an actor," Mr. Lemmon said.

His father asked, "Do you really need to do this?"

"Yes," Mr. Lemmon said he told his father. "If I don't find out (if I can make it as an actor), I'd spend the rest of my life wondering. He said OK, 'Do you love it?' And I said, 'Yes, I've done enough of it to know that I love it.'"

Even though Mr. Lemmon said his father was "petrified" that his son wanted to be an actor because of the risks of being in the profession, he handed his son the $300 he needed to go to New York (after graduating from Harvard) to try acting.

"He said to me, 'When the day comes that I don't find love in the baking of a loaf of bread, I'm going to quit.'"

Music at Phillips

Mr. Lemmon said he learned to play the piano while at Phillips. And he said he didn't do much acting because there wasn't much opportunity to do so.

In the piano room at Phillips, "I fell in love with the piano," he said. "I still play the piano every day because I started here. Charlie Arnold used to play the piano by ear. I said, 'Oh, can you do that?' And I started playing by ear."

Mr. Lemmon said he spent all his free time, and then some, playing the piano at PA. "I damn near flunked out because I was picking the locks on the music room. I spent

Police list costs of counsel for personnel legal issues

Editor, Townsmen:

In accordance with the provisions of Massachusetts Public Records Law, chapter 66, section 10, the Andover Police Patrolmen's Union has obtained copies of invoices submitted to the town of Andover for 1988, '89, '90 and '91 by special town counsel, Holtz and Gilman, P.C.

Accounts payable table provided by town of Andover accountant, Rodney P. Smith, for years 1986 to 1991.

Holtz and Gilman, P.C. advises and represents the town of Andover on labor and personnel legal issues.

Accounts payable table

Town of Andover

Payments to Special Town Counsel

Year	Amount	% change from 1986
1986	$ 4,574.82	-----
1987	16,152.92	+ 253.08
1988	28,257.01	+ 517.66
1989	54,288.76	+ 1,086.69
1990	34,684.07	+ 658.15
1991	76,968.65	+ 1,582.44

Andover Police Department Special town counsel expense excluding general consultation 1988 to 1991

Miscellaneous issues	2,004.51
MCR patrolmen	171.00
MCR traffic crossing guard	337.68
Total police legal expense	$96,131.51

Special town counsel payments have increased almost 1,600 percent in the last five years, an average of 320 percent per year, incredible and extravagant.

A great deal of discussion on the cost of health care and health insurance, an uncontrollable expense to the employer, has taken place on the federal, state and local levels of government in recent times. Labor related legal expenses to the town of Andover have increased 320 percent per year, a controllable expenditure. Had health insurance costs increased at an equivalent or similar rate, town officials would be irate and there would be a taxpayer rebellion.

Arbitration, a private court system, is a reactive response by the union to an alleged contractual or statute violation or interpretation by the town of Andover. The cost of arbitration is 524 percent greater for the Andover Police Department than the Andover Fire Department, a similar quasi-military organization with more employees and larger union membership, over the same duration.

Contract negotiation cost $675 per patrolman up to December 1991. The Andover Fire Department legal costs for negotiation is almost $19,000 less than the police department cost for the same period of time.

Correlating legal fees for the Andover police and fire departments for unfair labor complaints, the police department costs are 673 percent greater from 1988 to 1991.

There has been several newspaper articles recently referring to police moral problems, grievances, litigation and unfair labor practice complaints.

This is not about a contract or money, money is not a panacea, this is about fair, ethical, just, equitable, impartial, responsible and moral treatment of patrolmen by management.

Last June, two patrolmen were laid off because of an alleged budget shortfall. Why?

The ulterior cost of special town counsel must be isolated in the Andover town budget, made a line item. Allow the democratic process and town manager form of government to function. The town manager should recommend, selectmen approve and determined policy, finance committee investigate and permit the citizens and taxpayers of Andover to exercise their constitutional right, to vote.

every minute in that room I could." When a student asked Mr. Lemmon about his workload at PA, the actor replied that it was "enormous."

"It definitely cut into my piano playing," Mr. Lemmon said, and then added that the workload should be large.

PA teachers

He said his teachers here were "like parents." Most of them were men, he said. "I wasn't going to them with problems of classwork, I was going, being a confused teen-ager. I never went away empty handed. They said things that stuck with me."

Co-stars

Someone asked Mr. Lemmon who his favorite co-star was, and another asked which of the 40-odd films he's made was his favorite. He said he doesn't have favorites but he mentioned Walter Mathau as "one of my closest friends."

"I find working with him is like sitting down and eating breakfast. I've been lucky in not working with someone who is a real pain."

He said he'd like to work with Marlon Brando, who he said "works very strangely."

"He doesn't learn his lines. He claims he can't," said Mr. Lemmon, "which is a lot of bologna. I'd like to work with Jim Spader, who went here (to Phillips) and is a fine young actor, a very mature actor who trusts himself."

Meredith Price, editor of the Andover Bulletin and an English instructor at Phillips, asked if women are "taking over Hollywood," since so many movies today seem to feature them.

"It's funny how it goes in cycles," Mr. Lemmon answered. "For a long time there were no good women's parts. It's not women taking over, it's them getting a chance."

He slammed the film industry for nominating Prince of Tides for seven awards, including best picture and actor, but not for best director. Barbra Streisand was the director of that film and Mr. Lemmon was saying it wasn't nominated for best director because she's a woman.

"That's sexism," said Mr. Lemmon. "It's stupid, childish and petty little jealousy. They screwed her out of Yentil, too. One day, Hollywood will be co-ed."

Monroe and MacLaine

Mr. Lemmon said he "loved" working with both Marilyn Monroe, in Some Like It Hot, and with Shirley MacLaine in Irma La Douce.

He said he and Ms. MacLaine currently are looking for a movie to work on together. "It's hard at our age," he said. "And Shirley does not learn all her lines exactly."

He said Ms. MacLaine is afraid she will lose her spontaneity if she learns her lines exactly, but he said when they worked on The Apartment together, producer Billy Wilder "put her through the ringer" when she didn't know her exact lines.

On the other hand, "Marilyn would know her lines but she would stop in the middle of a scene and drive Billy Wilder nuts."

Of Ms. Monroe, Mr. Lemmon said, "I loved her. She was a terrific person. She had a built in alarm clock. She would stop (reciting her lines) when she thought things were not going well."

Autobiography

"Everybody asks" if he plans to write an autobiography, and he said the one authorized biography on him is "lousy."

"I may write one some day but it won't be for a long time."

Asked how long he plans to act, he said, "I don't want to quit until I get run over by a truck, or a critic."

Mr. Lemmon said he knows of a lot of stories that would make his autobiography interesting, but ones he wouldn't want to tell because they would hurt some people's feelings. "If I just told my story it might be dull," he said.

Advice to would-be actors

A student asked Mr. Lemmon what advice he would give to aspiring actors and actresses. He said he wished he had some "one-line nifty" things to say, but he doesn't. He said a person won't know how good he or she is until he gets a good part with a good cast and a good director. And he said, "Being pretty good means you are not going to make a very good living. It may take seven, eight years."

He said George C. Scott, "and that's as good as you are going to get," was 30-something years old before he got a good part. Mr. Lemmon, on the other hand, was lucky - he got a break with a part in television and then a producer saw that and asked him to play the part of Ensign Pulver in Mr. Roberts, for which he won an Academy Award.

"Don't give up, for God's sake," advised Mr. Lemmon.

He had quite a lot to say about theater in America and the same in London. Here, he said, unions are pushing the price of a ticket to the point where people can't afford to pay it. In London, according to Mr. Lemmon, the public goes to the theater and are raised with it. "I'd rather play London," he said. "Playing London is a whole different feeling."

Going to the theater, said Mr. Lemmon, should be an every-day event. In London, he said, audiences know how to listen "and they are on time." In addition, people in London will go to a play no matter what the critics said.

"I wonder how many kids in our country have gone to an opera," he said. When he attended an opera recently in London, 20 percent of the audience was under 12 years old.

"To an extent," said Mr. Lemmon, videos are killing U.S. theater, along with expensive theater tickets.

Most recent movie

He just finished making Glen, Glen Ross, which will not be released until next fall. He said he is "very excited" about the film, "very happy about it."

About his cameo appearance in JFK, Mr. Lemmon said, "I was fascinated by the film." He said he took the part because he wanted to work with producer Oliver Stone. "He has a wonderful sense of drama," said Mr. Lemmon, "whether you buy his premise or not."

Answering a student who asked if he agreed with Oliver Stone's premise in JFK, Mr. Lemmon said, "I do not think it was Oswald alone (who killed John Kennedy). Beyond that, love, I don't know...I am convinced there was a conspiracy."

Amy is home

Editor, Townsmen:

On Dec. 10, our 10-year-old daughter, Amy, was diagnosed with leukemia. After 67 nights of hospitalization at New England Medical Center, Amy has recently returned home. To have her back in the confines of our home is an overwhelmingly wonderful feeling.

The last few months have been the most dreadful of our lives. Being told our daughter has a life-threatening illness and facing up to that fact is devastating. The outpouring that has taken place from the community at large has restored our faith in mankind. The support we have received from family, friends, relatives, neighbors, principal, teachers, students and parish community has touched our lives in a way that nothing else has. To say thank you for the hundreds of get-well wishes, the daily prayers, the numerous gifts or the abundant food donations, hardly seems sufficient. To all of you who in some way have helped in making these dark days brighter, a sincere and heartfelt thank you. Difficult it has been; impossible it would have been without you.

Middle schools aren't the same

Editor, Townsmen:

I am the parent of a sixth-grader at West Middle School and a second-grader at West Elementary School. Because we live in Shawshen, my children will be redistricted at some point in the future. I have, therefore, been following these sub-committee discussions and have come to realize that there is a blatant discrepancy between the building quality of Andover's two middle schools.

In October, my husband and I, along with several hundred other parents, attended a crowded open house at West Middle School. Neither the occasion, the season nor the weather conditions illustrated the building's deficiencies that night. I have visited both middle schools since then and the inequities in the conditions of the physical plants are mind-boggling.

Doherty Middle School is everything a middle school should be: well lit, clean, spacious, brightly painted, evenly heated and generously equipped with student/teacher ratios approximately 20 to 1. West Middle School can at best be described as "Andover's poor relation." The heating system is dilapidated and in such poor repair that some classrooms are unbearably hot while in others ice has to be chipped from the children's books to disengage them from the shelf to which they have frozen overnight. Student/teacher ratios are approximately

This banner hung outside the Duarte's home last week and this week. Unfortunately, Amy returned to the hospital Wednesday morning

30 to 1. Insulation protrudes from walls and ceilings. The lockers are extinct since spare parts are no longer available to repair them. The lighting is depressingly dim, the flooring shabby and stained, the bathrooms are foul smelling, the paint is peeling and the library roof leaks.

Doherty students are entitled to their wonderful school, but West Middle School students are entitled to its equivalent. Doherty Middle School is not to be envied, but rather emulated. The parents of West Middle School are not requesting or expecting state-of-the-art perfection in these hard economic times. But we would like to see our school repaired and maintained to a standard conducive to learning and teaching.

I have been heartened to hear Doherty Middle School parents' support for our plight, but we also need the support of the School Committee and the town at large. It is time to invest in the long overdue maintenance of our physical plants. The ventilation system crisis at West Elementary this past year was a consequence of ignoring building maintenance in favor of other priorities.

Must it take a health catastrophe to address the deteriorating condition of our schools? Please put West Middle School at the top of the list for capital improvements since it has obviously been at the end of every list for a long time.

Andover lost its Olympian

Editor, Townsmen:

After reading the article on "Andover's Olympian" Sharon Petzold, I had several feelings. One was the civic pride of Andover having one of its own as an Olympian. The other was the concern I felt at the administration's inability to provide flexibility in its schedule to accommodate Ms. Petzold's schedule. Consequently, Ms. Petzold is then forced to enroll in a school in Maine and, thus, Andover loses the identification of an Olympian to Andover High School.

If this minor problem cannot be administered, how will the future of open classrooms, budget deficits and enlightened education be handled by our school administration? I'm sure, unless something drastic changes, the robotic administration will bring education in Andover to a medieval level. Wake up to the 1990s.

Budget study

Editor, Townsmen:

We have completed our preliminary review of the budget as well as articles submitted so far for town meeting and we want to share some of the more fascinating things we have discovered.

First, the budget for 1993 contains $3,000,000 more than the previous year. This is the result of two things: (1) a debt reduction of $1.6 million for the completion of school projects which were bonded 10 years ago, and (2) the allowable 2 1/2 percent increase from the previous year's budget plus new growth allowed under Prop. 2 1/2 totaling $1.4 million.

All of the debt service reduction has been added to the operating budget with nothing set aside for property tax stabilization, increases in free cash or any other purpose. This budget, as submitted by the town manager, includes a 7.6 percent increase in spending on the town side and a 2.7 percent increase on the school side.

As you are undoubtedly aware, residential property taxes increased 8 to 10 percent (while the value of our homes continued to decline) due to the decision of the selectmen to give property tax relief to the commercial/industrial properties in Andover. If this budget is approved at Town Meeting, property taxes will be increased again.

The town has also submitted several articles for infrastructure repairs which, at this time, totals another $3 million. These are the repair of the Bancroft pumping station, water distribution system improvements and sidewalk improvements, capital items submitted outside the budget.

We'd like to remind you we have an enterprise approach to water and sewer repairs or additions so that, while they are not included in the budget, the impact of the passage of these warrant articles will be seen in your water and sewer bills. We also should remind you that these monies are not deductible from your taxes because they are billed separately from your property taxes. This may be an issue that should be addressed at some future time as they continue to climb. Additional warrant articles may be added and may or may not impact the budget further.

Included in the budget this year is a capital improvement program request of $900,000, $540,000 for the school side to do school building repairs and $360,000 for the town side including replacement of five cruisers for the police department, a new ambulance for the fire department and a catch basin/sander for the Department of Public Works.

Another interesting item is that all collective bargaining units in town are up this year for negotiation. In the budget message, the town manager states "there are no funds included in this budget for wage increases." This does not mean, however, that salaries are level funded as you might conclude from that statement. Rather it means that minimum step increases are included so that most employees do receive a wage increase including the town manager's $3,750 one.

Employee health insurance is projected to increase 24.4 percent. The Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund will increase from $66,000 to $175,000. The retirement fund will go up 20.5 percent. The stress these increases put on the budget is obvious. A couple of other things to note. Our free cash balance is dangerously low, local revenues continue to decrease, and there seems no certain sign of recovery from the recession. Cost containment has become critical.

Even though public discussion of the budget is just beginning, so far no voice has been raised for not increasing the budget by the full amount available or allowed by Prop. 2 1/2. As budget discussions at Finance Committee meetings (each Wednesday evening at town offices) and by the selectmen begin, we urge you to become educated about the decisions which will be forwarded for action to town meeting. If there are no lively discussions or no howl or protest from the community, the assumption will be that all of us are satisfied and the budget discussion at town meeting will be cursory and without controversy.

This budget belongs to us. We need to ignite and encourage a full discussion and make certain we are satisfied with the services our expenditures and taxes provide. Is the town government taking us where we want to go?

Kids work on the Earth

Editor,
Townsgman:

I was very upset to read that the author of "The younger generation speaks out" (editorial, page 32, Feb. 20 Townsgman) feels that "people his age and a bit older have been known to stop caring about the environment and about other global issues."

May I inquire as to the last time the author visited the Doherty Middle School facility? I wonder if he or she is aware that there is an after-school club there called Kids for Kids that supports recycling and has recycling bins in every classroom and in the hallways? Does he or she know that there is so much paper in our collection bin outside that we have had to request that the recycling company's truck come more often to pick up our paper? Young adults my age are angry at the older generation, but the majority of us are speaking out and are taking action.

Women who kill

Townsgman:

"Three years ago, I went to jail for defending my life," said Meekah Scott, who was convicted of manslaughter for killing her abusive boyfriend. "I just pray to God that they turn the lock and let us out."

Ms. Scott, out on bail pending appeal of her conviction, made her plea during a recent State House ceremony in which petitions calling for her release, and the release of seven other women convicted of killing their abusive partners, were presented to Lt. Gov. Paul Cellucci.

Under state law, battered woman's syndrome, a psychological condition brought about by long-term abusive relationships, is not recognized as a legal defense against murder charges.

It is nearly impossible for a woman who kills an abusive partner to have a claim of self-defense validated by the judicial system.

Often, on the grounds that it is irrelevant, a woman is not allowed to present evidence of the abuse from which she was trying to protect herself.

However, Rep. Barbara Gray (D-Framingham) has recently filed legislation to amend the law so that it will include domestic violence.

This act assures battered women the fair treatment in court that they have been denied by a system unaware of and insensitive to their plight.

Ms. Gray is responding responsibly to the demands made by a knowledge and understanding of the issues surrounding domestic violence. Please join her by urging your legislators to vote the act into law.

Preying on elders

Townsgman:

It has often been asked, how could a civilized, educated country like Germany do what it did prior to and during WWII? Even though an effort is being made to deny that it ever did happen. Guess by whom?

One answer can be found in some of the following local actions last night at the selectman meeting. Without any compunctions whatsoever (despite the pious statements to the contrary) it was put as a clearly young vs. old format. It was put into that format by those who should know better, but don't exactly as the so called educated refined elite of the 1930s and '40s Germany put it.

Oh, no! All right one example: This was put by Mr. Outwin and reinforced by Mrs. Dalton and the other refined, educated person present, the superintendent of schools, (who said) we will just serrated the elderly into two sections and one section will have a wonderful place at the high school. It will be so much better. In fact we (get the we) could have interaction between the school students and them. Enough said. Should I quote the exact same reasoning and similar statements that came out of Germany some 50-55 years ago? I seen those results. Yes, I did and I seen them before they were tried to be 'prettied up.'

Shame on all those who had a part in this. In fact, I should have to be subject to the forces which exist today which would in a lot of instances give rise to the same results of yesterday and by those educated (and those who should know better) "leaders?" of a certain segment of the town. Shame. Yes, indeed. Shame.

AHS men's swim team co-captains

Men's swim team nails third place

The Merrimack Valley champion Andover High School men's swim team placed third in the North Sectional championships last weekend.

Matt Liberty captured the 500-yard freestyle, establishing a new school record time of 4:47.26, and took second place in a close 100-yard butterfly race with a time of :55.56.

Brian Mayberry placed fourth in the 50 free with :23.18 and in the 100 free in :50.20.

Senior co-captain Matt Jennings was fourth in the 210-yard individual medley in a personal best time of 2:08.33 and seventh in the 100-yard backstroke in a seasonal best :58.91.

Chris Blongiewicz was ninth in the 200 I.M. in a 2:12.37 personal best as was senior co-capt. Chris DeMartino in the 100 fly in a :59.18 personal best and Adam Schoen in the 200 free in 1:53.72. DeMartino's time made state cuts in the 100 fly.

Freshman David Burke placed 10th in the diving competition, scoring 286.55 points over the 11-dive competition.

The 200-yard freestyle relay team of Manu Sharma, DeMartino, Schoen and Blongiewicz established a new school record by swimming 1:36.32 for a seventh-place finish. The 400 free relay with Schoen, Jennings, Liberty and Mayberry finished fourth with a 3:24.46, just a tick off the new school record they established at the MVC championships last week. The 200-yard medley relay team of Jennings, Mayberry, Liberty and Blongiewicz placed fifth with a 1:49.01.

Adam Robb was first alternate in the 500-yard freestyle, swimming a 5:19.66 personal best time. Also doing personal bests were Dave Bevacqua, in the 200 (2:06.00) and 500 (5:55.32) yard freestyle events; Greg Davie in the 100-yard breaststroke (1:12.132); Brad Litchfield in the 500 free (6:00.26); and Ben Mazin in the 100-yard butterfly (1:03.54) and 100-yard backstroke (1:08.77). Tim Connors also swam in sectionals.

The final competition for the Golden Warriors will be the state championships March 7 at Holy Cross in Worcester. Blongiewicz, Burke, DeMartino, Jennings, Liberty, Mayberry and Schoen have qualified to compete in individual events.

Head Coach Rick Battistini, who was selected Coach of the Year in the MVC, was pleased with his swimmers and happy with their placement. "This is the highest we've ever finished at sectionals. The guys really came together today and put in some great swims."

Warriors defeat Woburn in opening round of tourney play

By Rick Harrison

Sean Ryan poured through 28 points as the Andover High boys' varsity basketball team pulled away in the second half en route to a 69-44 victory over Woburn in the opening round of the Eastern Mass. Division 1 Tournament earlier this week.

The win, which snapped a brief Golden Warriors' two-game losing streak, hiked the locals' overall record to 14-7 and advanced them to the second round where they faced Northeastern Conference power Salem High last night.

Fifth-seeded Salem entered the contest 17-3 overall.

Andover inched ahead of Woburn (7-14 overall) 26-23 at the half and then erupted to score 43 points in the final 16 minutes.

misfortune continued with a dislocated shoulder.

Ryan was sharp from the floor, producing 14 field goals and scoring 12 points in the first half and 16 in the second. He now has 438 points overall this season.

Senior forward Kevin Ring also hit double figures with 16 points.

Senior guard Matt Harris added eight points, sophomore guard Kirk Stockwood and junior forward Mark Lastrina four points apiece, Wayne Mattola tossed in the team's lone three-pointer, and single baskets were notched by John Martin, Doug Cullen and Chris Lembo.

Steve Donahue tossed in 10 points for the balanced Tanners, Tim Kelley contributed eight, Brian O'Donnell six, Peter Fondell six, Carl Boutwell six and Brian Kelley six.

AHS hockey team finds spot in EMass Division 2 tourney lineup

By Rick Harrison

Displaying a newfound maturity born from desperation, the Andover High hockey team last week completed its "Miracle on Ice" with a solid 4-2 non-league victory over Northeastern Conference champ Danvers High at Merrimack College.

The Golden Warriors' third straight back-to-the-wall victory qualified them for the Eastern Mass. Division 2 Tournament for the second straight year, their final 11-7-2 record and 24 points exactly enough to mathematically include them in post-season action.

Coach Bill Cullen's Cinderella crew, seeded 18th in the 20-school field, launched play in the single-elimination tourney last night against Dual County League third place finisher Boston Latin (11-5-3, 15th seed).

The draw is kinder than last year's, when Andover had to face defending Division 2 champion Arlington Catholic in its opener. The Warriors put up a respectable fight but lost to AC, 4-2.

An Andover victory over Latin in the preliminary round would advance the locals into first round play Saturday at Watertown Arena against perennial Division 2 power Franklin High (No. 2 seed, 18-1-1). Sheehan nets two

The Warriors led 4-0 before yielding a pair of late goals to Danvers, which finished the season 13-3-4 and was installed as the No. 7 seed in the Division 1 portion of the EMass Tournament.

Senior first line center Bobby Sheehan scored two goals, linemate Bill Owens added a goal and two assists, and senior goaltender Mike Daley was sharp with 22 saves.

"The kids deserve all the credit in the world," said first-year Coach Bill Cullen, who previously directed Wilmington High to numerous tournament appearances.

"For two weeks they were walking on eggs, unable to make a mistake, and they gained a lot of confidence in their own abilities."

"It finally sunk in that they're a pretty good hockey team, and the biggest key was the second period against Tewksbury when we really picked it up a few notches."

Trailing 1-0 in the second period of that game, and facing Merrimack Valley Conference MVP Rob McGrath who had shut them out four consecutive periods, the Warriors erupted for four goals and went on to a 5-2 triumph.

Overall Andover went 3-0-1 in its last four and 5-2-1 in its final eight games, with the only losses during that time to powerful tourney qualifiers Central Catholic (13-4-2) and Methuen (14-3-1) by identical 4-2 scores.

"The Owens-Sheehan-Dan Feeley line played very well down the stretch, while the Jamie Himer-Brian Jones-Steve Neal line played out of its mind," said Cullen.

"Defensively we couldn't have asked for more from Justin Hesenius (MVC All-Star), the Allards (Capt. Todd and sophomore Paul) and Brian Adessa."

JV hockey team ends season undefeated

By Rick Harrison

It's extremely rare to go through an entire athletic season undefeated.

But that's what the Andover High junior varsity hockey team did this winter, which augurs well for next year's varsity squad.

The young Warriors went 19-0-1, with the only blemish on the record a 0-0 tie against Central Catholic in the 20th and final game.

The Andover JVs outscored the opposition by a wide 99-29 margin, registering five shutouts and yielding more than three goals only once. Four of the games were won by one-goal margins.

Defensemen on the club were Dan Hansberry, Matt Johnson, Mike Mazza, Captain Peter O'Shea, John Brodbine, Mike Dalton and Dave "Dallas" Bailey. They accounted for the other nine Andover goals.

Lady Warriors trample Lexington in opener

By Rick Harrison

The Andover High girls' varsity basketball team used a devastating fast break and a balanced scoring attack to trample Middlesex League member Lexington High 55-44 in its MIAA Eastern Mass. Division 1 North Sectional Tournament opener Tuesday night at the Reading High Field House.

The No. 4 seed Lady Warriors, who won each of their last five regular season games by 22-26 point margins, were in control from opening tap to final buzzer as they advanced to Saturday's quarterfinal round with their sixth straight victory.

The opposition will be provided by the winner of tonight's first round game between No. 5 seed Bishop Fenwick (17-3) and No. 12 Cambridge Rindge & Latin (11-7), with the quarterfinal scheduled for 3 p.m. at the North Andover High Field House.

The tourney triumph extended Andover's school record single-season win total to 18, boosting the overall record to 18-3.

"We broke out to a 12-4 lead and then got lazy," said Coach George Sullivan. "Lexington made a little run at us, but we got it back up to 33-22 by halftime and were ahead by as many as 20

The closest the Minuteman came thereafter was the final difference of 11 points.

"It got scary for a short time," said Sullivan. "The girls got compassionate and almost let Lexington back into it. We were making too many mistakes, playing on our heels instead of our toes and playing not to lose instead of playing to win."

The fast break was led by Lindsey Sweeney and Grace Perry, who dished off numerous passes to frontcourt performers Zahia Kattar, Amy O'Sullivan and Kerry Hagerty.

Melissa McNamara added another hustling defensive performance, diving for loose balls and forcing numerous opposition turnovers.

Senior forward and Tri-Captain Zahia Kattar led Andover with 12 points, eight rebounds and eight defensive plusses, while senior center and Tri-Captain Amy O'Sullivan also hit double figures with 11 points and pulled down nine rebounds.

Junior forward Kerry Hagerty had nine points, 13 rebounds and six plusses, Tri-Captain Grace Perry nine points, and junior point-guard Lindsey Andover resident Liz Davies is finishing up her basketball career at Notre Dame Academy (Tyngsboro) in style.

The talented senior center, who surpassed the 1,000 career point plateau last winter when NDA won the Catholic Conference North, Catholic Girls Tournament and Eastern Mass. Division 3 North championships before losing to Lee High in the state final at the Worcester Centrum, is currently gearing up for another run at a state title.

The Lancers are 20-1 this season, top-seeded once again in Division 3 North, and will resume tournament play this Saturday in the quarterfinal round against crosstown rival Tyngsboro High at the Wakefield High Field House (1 p.m.).

Notre Dame defeated Bedford in its opener Tuesday night.

Liz, who is approaching 1,500 career points, is averaging 23 points and 15 rebounds per game this season.

Her single-game season high is 36 points against Ursuline Academy of Dedham, and in the regular season finale she poured through 32 points to personally outscore perennial Division 2 powerhouse Wakefield as the Lancers stunned the previously-undefeated Warriors 57-27.

In the Catholic Girls' Tournament Davies had 21 points in the semifinal win over Notre Dame of Hingham, and 22 points, 15 rebounds against Fontbonne in the title clash.

Last year she established a school and area record by scoring 50 points in a 124-24 decimation of Girls' Catholic of Maiden.

Davies is also an All-Scholastic volleyball player, and three weeks ago was one of more than 300 high school athletes honored in ceremonies at the State House in Boston.

She was recognized as part of the 1992 Girls and Women in Sports Day.

High school principals across the state were asked to nominate two girls from their school "who they felt exemplified the spirit of sports."

The girls were presented certificates from the state House of Representatives and heard a speech by Pat Summitt, coach of the national champion University of Tennessee women's basketball team.

Two of Andover High's finest athletes were seen walking hand-in-hand through downtown Andover during school vacation week.

Jason, the premier indoor hurdler in Massachusetts, had pulled up lame a few days earlier in the All-State Meet after winning the Class B title.

Kasie, meanwhile, had performed predictably well in the North Sectional and All-State Gymnastics Meets. But Andover High, with a legitimate shot at first place, settled for third in both meets behind Beverly (state champ) and Dracut (Sectional champ).

The Andover High freshman boys' basketball team recently completed a fine 15-1 season in the best way possible, avenging its only loss of the year by walloping the Lowell frosh 59-37.

Lowell had edged Coach Paul Willis's squad 57-54 earlier in the season.

Matt Gibson (16 points) and Eric Danis (10) led the Andover offense, while Eric Thompson, Chris Brown, Paul Cassidy and Brian Marshall sparked the defense and controlled the boards.

Erik Greenstein, Andover High's latest Division 1 football recruit, spent the school vacation week basking in the sun at St. Kitts Island in the Caribbean.

Greenstein, 6'3" and approximately 265 pounds, recently signed a letter of intent to attend the University of Maryland.

He thus became the second AHS line behemoth to go big time in the last two years, following Joe Marinaro (6'4", 276) who was a member of Big Ten champ and Rose Bowl competitor Michigan this past fall.

At Maryland, Greenstein hopes to help turn around a struggling program now being run by former Holy Cross guru Mark Duffner.

The Terrapins' coaching staff has indicated its plans are to use Greenstein in the offensive line.

"In my opinion he's the best line-man the league has produced in years," said Tewksbury Coach Joe DeGrosso at the end of last season. "Marinaro and (Sean) Finneran (Central Catholic grad now at UNH) were great, but this kid's even better. He's very quick, strong and technically sound."

large in the finale against Danvers.

"It was Mike's turn in the rotation, but he would have been my pick in the Danvers game no matter what the circumstances," explained Cullen. "He's a senior, it could have been his last high school game, and he deserved it."

"That's not to take anything away from Chris (Addressa) who's had a terrific year for us as well. But Chris is a junior and he'll be back next season."

Bobby Sheehan put AHS ahead 1-0 at 2:47 of the first period with assists to sizzling Bill Owens and Brian Addressa.

Sheehan, skating down the right wing lane, wound up and blasted a 50-foot slapshot past Danvers's goaltender Dave Finn.

"It's something we've been trying to get Bobby to do all season," noted Cullen. "We want him to fire that puck from outside, and he finally did it."

It remained 1-0 until 4:40 of the second period when Owens, netting his fifth goal in the last three games and team-high 13th of the season, scored on a bang-bang play during a scramble at the Falcons' goalmouth.

Senior wing Dan Feeley notched the lone assist.

Senior right wing Chris Pothier, whose penalty shot goal started the comeback victory over Tewksbury, netted the eventual game-winner in this contest at 6:56 of the third period.

"Chris was playing the forecheck to perfection, and was positioned right where he should have been," said Cullen. "He intercepted a cross-ice pass and fired the puck past their goalie."

Pothier's 10th

It was Pothier's 10th goal and the seventh point for Moynihan, who has been skating varsity for less than half the season.

Sheehan's second of the game and sixth goal of the season, which turned out to be an insurance marker, came from a scramble just 74 seconds after Pothier's connection (8:10).

Owens and Feeley were both credited with their second assist as Andover took a com manding 4-0 lead with less than seven minutes to play.

Brian Cronin of Danvers put his team on the board eight seconds later (8:18), spoiling Mike Daley's shutout bid, and Kevin Livingston made it interesting with the Falcons' second goal at 12:52.

Andover outscored its last eight regular season opponents 33-18.

Eighteen different players scored at least one goal during the regular season, while 21 figured in the varsity offense with at least one point.

All-Stars

Justin Hesenius was the only Andover player named to the All-Conference team, making the second unit as a defenseman.

Hesenius, Todd Allard and forwards Chris Pothier, Bill Owens and Dan Feeley were Andover representatives on the MVC Small School Division All-Star team that edged the Cape Ann League Small School 'Stars 4-2 last week.

Dalton Honored

Andover High senior Bob Dalton received one of the MVC's three major awards presented between periods of its All-Star doubleheader against the Cape Ann League elite.

Dalton, who missed the entire season after a shoulder injury during the football season required surgery, was the winner of the league's Sportsmanship Award.

"Bob's loss was devastating to the team," said Coach Bill Cullen. "He would have been a very important part of the club this season."

Tewksbury senior goaltender Rob McGrath was named MVC "Player-of-the-Year" and Jack Fletcher of Chelmsford MVC "Coach-of-the-Year."

Bantam A hockey team stays on top

The Andover Bantam A hockey team remains at the top of the Dual State and Valley Youth hockey leagues following recent action. Though the Warriors dropped a close decision to Wakefield, they bounced back with close wins over Manchester Regional, Woburn and Methuen. This brings Andover's record for the season to 36 wins, 8 losses, and 2 ties.

Wakefield 3 - Andover 1

For the first time this season, the Wakefield Bantams beat the Andover team. The Warriors battled hard, but the puck seemed to bounce repeatedly for the hard-working Wakefield squad. Andover's only score was a third-period goal by Chris Cullen, assisted by Ryan Jacobson.

Andover 2 - MRYHA (Manchester Regional) 1

In their first meeting of the year, Andover scrambled to a hard-fought 2-1 victory over Manchester Regional. Andover scored single goals in the first and third periods while MRYHA scored its lone goal in the second.

The Warrior's first-period goal was scored by Ryan Jacobson, as he tipped in a Chris Cullen wrist shot from the left faceoff circle. Brad Batchelder also drew an assist on the play. Scott Munroe sent Chris Cullen in alone on the MRYHA netminder and he snapped home a low shot to the stick side for the game-winner with less than two minutes to play.

Andover 4 - Woburn 1

An undermanned Andover squad battled its way to an important 4-1 win over Woburn in the Dual State League. The Warriors only skated eight players plus a goalie. Andover opened the scoring late in the first period when Dana DiFiore and Matt Adessa combined for a short-handed goal. Dana fed Matt from behind the Woburn goal and Matt snapped it home for the lead. Woburn scored the only goal of the second period to tie the game entering the final period. Robert Kwon scored the game-winner when he converted a rebound early in the period. He was assisted by Matt Adessa and his brother, Albert. Three minutes later, Marc Escott scored an insurance goal, with assists going to Dana DiFiore and Peter Volpe. Defenseman Brian Kwon finished the Warrior scoring when he deked a Woburn defender at the blue line, walked in and snapped a hard wrist shot by the defenseless goaltender. Matt Johnson had a great game on defense and Peter Afarian played well in net.

Andover 3 - Methuen 1

In an absolute "must game," the Warriors came up with perhaps their best performance of the year to meet Methuen's challenge for first place in the Valley Youth Hockey League.

Missing several key players due to injuries and the varsity state hockey tournament, the "A's" relied on tremendous support from their "B" counterparts.

After a very hard-fought and scoreless first period, Methuen took advantage of a second-period power play for the 1-0 lead. Though outplayed to this point, Andover hung on and stayed within striking distance thanks mainly to the superb goaltending of Peter Afarian. With only six minutes remaining in the game, Matt Johnson made a fine breakout pass to winger Eddie Seero, who slid the puck to center Dana DiFiore. Dana skated down the right wing and blasted a hard shot by the startled Ranger goalie to tie the score at 1-1. With just three minutes left in the game, defenseman Brian Kwon made a rush into the Methuen zone and wristed a hard shot on net. Center Matt Adessa tipped the puck past the defenseless Ranger goalie and Andover was leading 2-1. Some excellent penalty killing by David Salafia, Todd Thistle and Peter Volpe preserved the lead until Marc Escott buried a long shot into the empty Methuen net. Peter Afarian had one of his best games of the year and the defensive quartet of Brian Kwon, Matt Johnson, Jeff Hesenius and Mike Dalton shut down the Ranger attack.

Andover 4 - Cambridge 1

Christine Contos played a superb game at halfback and scored an unassisted goal. Erin Collins had two goals, assisted by Jen Prudden and Randi Spiegel. Missy Famiglietti scored her 10th goal in seven games with the assist going to Randi Spiegel, who leads the team in assists with eight. Beth Lee had a great game in goal and was really supported by Colleen Reid, Erica Clausen and Gillian Corkery.

BOW: Jen Prudden and Ashley Nowell.

Blazers end four-game losing streak

The Andover Blazers avenged an early season loss Friday night and ended a four-game losing streak by defeating Cambridge 4-1 in Under 14 Girls' Indoor Soccer League play in Burlington.

Cambridge 6 - Andover 2

Two goals by Missy Famiglietti on assists by Randi Spiegel was not enough as the team had their poorest game of the season.

Booster of the week: Inci Erdem and Jen Shapira.

Wilmington 3 - Andover 2

Andover ran out of time against league-leader Wilmington. Goal scorers were Beth Lee, assisted by Missy Famiglietti, and Sasha Nelken, assisted by Randi Spiegel. Christine Contos and Kara Burbank had great efforts at halfback as did Meg Giuliano and Eric Clausen at fullback.

BOW: Beth Lee and Randi Spiegel.

Arlington 4 - Andover 2

Erin Collins and Missy Famiglietti each scored in a very well played and fast-paced game. Defensively, the team played well.

BOW: Christine Contos and Molly O'Connell.

Bob Jacobs leads Trailblazers to win

In recent Department of Community Services' men's basketball, Bob Jacobs led the McKinney/Byrne Trailblazers (10-1) to a 69-46 victory over N.A.P.T.A. (3-8).

Jacobs scored 20 points and was followed by Bob Costello (16) and Tom Ackerman (14). Kim Carpenter (15) and Alan Ames (14) were high for N.A.P.T.A.

The Blazers led 35-23 at intermission and rolled through the second half. N.A.P.T.A. had only five players available for the contest.

Stan Fiumara led the way for the Pisco's Pacers (6-5) with 20 points in a 71-50 win over Andover Companies (5-6).

The winners also got 18 points apiece from Scott Almeida and Leo White to give the team its fourth straight victory.

Andover Companies was without the services of Jordan Adair, the league's high scorer, and when Mike Caron left the game early in the first half with an injury, the team had only five players to finish the game. Peter Lafond had 17 points and Alan Eggert 12 (four three-pointers) for Andover Companies.

Dave Woods and Jim Tildsley each knocked home 18 points for Front Row. Paul Wysocki (25) and Kevin Connors (24) put most of the points on the board for the winners, while Doug Ahern, Tom Baker and Fred Marshall played good defense and controlled the boards.

Greenstein was one of only two Merrimack Valley Conference gridders to receive scholarships to Division 1 schools this year.

Billerica defensive end-fullback Dana Cottrell was the other as he signed with Syracuse.

Greenstein was also actively and heavily recruited by such schools as Syracuse, Boston College, UMass-Amherst and Rhode Island.

Erik lives with his mother and brother Andy at 3 Rutgers Road.

Incidentally, the only bad part about the St. Kitts trip was that Erik reportedly arrived back in Boston at 3 a.m. last Sunday night.

Andover High baseball team lefty pitcher Jim Hanning, a senior who will attend the University of Maine on scholarship next fall, was walking on air after a recent workout at Beverly High.

Former Red Sox and St. Louis Cardinals ace southpaw hurler John Tudor, who worked briefly with Hanning last spring, watched him throwing for several minutes and remarked:

"I wished I had your curve ball when I was pitching for Boston."

The quiet Mr. Hanning didn't say much until he left the building, but the encouragement from the Peabody native came as a very pleasant surprise.

Hanning recently changed his grip on his curveball to get better rotation.

Hanning will be one of the aces on the Andover High pitching staff this spring as the Golden Warriors, 25-1 last year, go about the business of defending their Merrimack Valley Conference, Eastern Mass. Division 1 and State Division 1 titles.

Andover has been ranked among the top 40 teams in the country by USA Today.

Hurricanes post win and loss

In the Andover/North Andover Hurricane swim team's meet against Hockomock Feb. 1, the Andover boys won, but the girls lost. The following swimmers placed in their events:

Boys

Class E: Stephen Graham won the 50-yard free, 25-yard back and the 100-yard medley relay with Geoffrey O'Donoghue, James Paull and Jeff Sandman. O'Donoghue won the 25-yard free. On Sunday, Feb. 16, at Bradford Hill, members of the Andover Ski Club raced in the Thompson Trophy Qualifier. Skiers from seven area ski clubs competed for the chance to represent their clubs and the state at the Thompson Trophy Race.

The Thompson Trophy Race is held annually at Gunstock Mountain in New Hampshire. This year it will be held March 13 and 14. The top skiers from clubs in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts and New York compete to bring home the coveted Thompson Trophy.

By beating out some stiff competitors, the following Andover Ski Club members qualified and will represent the club as well as the state of Massachusetts: Alison Skoglund, Libby Sinkinson, Caitlin Grasso, Hannah Pfeifle, Mark Edwards and Ryan Downey.

Attention, story writers

The Townsmen is grateful for the stories about sporting events many Andover residents write for the sports section.

However, many sports stories are sent to the newspaper without a name and phone number, which the paper needs in case there is a question.

In addition, many sports stories arrive without the sport ever being mentioned. Often, the reader can figure out what sport it is, but the sport and the group's real name, Andover Youth Hockey, for instance, should be mentioned early in the story.

Jeff Danis scores winning basket St. Augustine B clinches division title

By Rick Harrison

Jeff Danis scored the winning basket with two minutes left, and Charlie Russo added an insurance free throw as St. Augustine B clinched the Andover Church Basketball League Senior Division (7th-8th grade) title with a defense-dominated 16-14 victory over St. Augustine A in recent action at Andover High.

The triumph left SAB alone at the top of the standings with a 7-1 record, while SAA and St. Robert's were tied for second at 6-2.

In other Senior games St. Robert's belted St. Augustine C 31-10 despite the absence of division scoring champ Jon Adams, and Ballardvale United finished its season with a 21-19 triumph over St. Augustine D.

Jon Adams continued to lead all scorers with 103 points, followed by St. Robert's teammate Ted Witman with 77, Todd Wilson of Faith Lutheran 63 and Ernie Dascoli of St. Augustine A 60.

St. Augustine B, 16-14

SAB trailed the whole way until the late heroics by Jeff Danis and Charlie Russo lifted the Senior champs to their fourth straight victory.

The well-balanced winners, who edged St. Robert's 31-29 the previous week on Russo's clutch bucket in

Bob Jacobs leads Trailblazers to win

In recent Department of Community Services' men's basketball, Bob Jacobs led the McKinney/Byrne Trailblazers (10-1) to a 69-46 victory over N.A.P.T.A. (3-8). Jacobs scored 20 points and was followed by Bob Costello (16) and Tom Ackerman (14). Kim Carpenter (15) and Alan Ames (14) were high for N.A.P.T.A. The Blazers led 35-23 at intermission and rolled through the second half. N.A.P.T.A. had only five players available for the contest.

Stan Fiumara led the way for the Pisco's Pacers (6-5) with 20 points in a 71-50 win over Andover Companies

(5-6). The winners also got 18 points apiece from Scott Almeida and Leo White to give the team its fourth straight victory. Andover Companies was without the services of Jordan Adair, the league's high scorer, and when Mike Caron left the game early in the first half with an injury, the team had only five players to finish the game. Peter Lafond had 17 points and Alan Eggert 12 (four three-pointers) for Andover Companies.

John's Village Deli (8-3) held a comfortable lead throughout the game in defeating Front Row Photo (1-10) 81-62. Dave Woods and Jim Tildsley each knocked home 18 points for Front Row. Paul Wysocki (25) and Kevin Connors (24) put most of the points on the board for the winners, while Doug Ahern, Tom Baker and Fred Marshall played good defense and controlled the boards.

One of the services available through the Council on Aging is the Meals-on-Wheels program. When the delivery driver is unable to work on any given day, it could become a problem making certain clients receive their meal. I would like to appeal to anyone who would be willing to act as a substitute driver on a voluntary basis. Contact me at the Senior Center.

Diane Applegate, Sen. Patricia McGovern's aide, will be at the Senior Center Monday, March 2, 11 a.m.-1 p.m. If you have concerns you would like to discuss, drop by.

As a public service, the Andover Council on Aging will host an informative, free workshop with financial experts Stephen Mathieu and attorney Joseph Broderick. Senior citizens' legal and financial issues are constantly changing and are very confusing. Join us on Thursday, April 9, at 1 p.m.

Food Commodity distribution will be held Monday, March 23, 10 a.m.-2 p.m. We will also have a spring craft table that day.

The next AARP meeting will be held Tuesday, March 24 at 1:30 p.m.

St. Patrick's Day party tickets are on sale at the center.

The Council on Aging will sponsor a candidate's coffee Monday, March 9, at 1 p.m. Come meet local candidates and get their views on some of the situations facing the town.

HISTORY

By Barbara Thibault

The Andover Historical Society and Andover Historical Commission request nominations for 1992 Preservation Awards. The categories that will be considered are sensitive exterior preservation, public interior restoration, outstanding adaptive reuse, sympathetic addition, expert craftsmanship, complimentary landscape design and continual restoration.

Andover continues to take pride in its buildings and their environs and this award program, now in its third year, acknowledges noteworthy properties in the community.

Nominations will be reviewed by a committee of local individuals representing the arts, history, landscape and building trades.

Last year, recognition for exterior and interior restoration was presented to West Parish Church. Preservation of historic landscape was awarded to the Andover Village Improvement Society for its on-going effort to purchase the West Parish Meadow on Reservation Road.

Exterior and landscape preservation awards went to 276 North Main and 67 Central streets. A successful adaptive reuse was recognized at 15 Railroad St. and continual restoration awards were given to 232 Salem and 88 Lowell streets. Of particular note in 1991 was the presentation of awards for the maintenance of a 19th-century mill village streetscape as represented by High Vale Lane, north of St. Joseph's Church in Ballardvale.

Nominations for 1992 Preservation Awards should be sent to the Andover Historical Society, 97 Main St., by March 15. Include the property's address, award category, photographs and a brief description supporting its nomination.

FIRE LOG

sudden-death overtime, also avenged their only loss of the season. SAA had won the first encounter a month earlier, 27-21.

No more than three points separated the intra-church rivals at any time in this game, which saw SAA break a 5-5 first-quarter tie to take a 10-7 halftime lead and a 14-12 advantage after three periods.

SAB held SAA scoreless in the final period, and earned the win when Will Cohen swished a free throw to make it 14-13, Danis hit his basket for a 15-14 lead, and Russo converted the second of two charities for the 16-14 final.

With two seconds left St. Augustine A had a chance to tie it when a player was fouled, but both shots were missed and the game was history.

Charlie Russo was game-high scorer with 7 points, Jeff Danis netted 5, Dave Shaffer two free throws, Mike Couture one foul shot and Will Cohen a charity.

Scott Callanan, Luis Dominguez and Joe Jelson contributed strong defensive efforts.

Ernie Dascoli and Patrick Hess pocketed 5 points apiece for SAA, while Mark Langone and Cory Bishop added one field goal apiece.

Also playing well were Jason Nicholson and Nolan Pelletier.

Both teams finished with five field goals, but SAB hit 6-of-14 free throws to SAA's 4-of-11.

St. Robert's, 31-100

St. Augustine C hung tough in the first half, trailing only 10-5 at the midway point.

But Corry McLaughlin and Ted Witman sparked St. Robert's on a 21-5 second-half run to put the game away.

McLaughlin and Witman finished with 10 points apiece, Mike Kelly scored his 5 in the third quarter, and Tim Campbell tossed in a fourth-quarter bucket.

Leo Blais, injured after the second game of the season, returned to the St. Robert's lineup and played a strong game with 4 points.

Lady Warriors trample Lexington

Sweeney eight points and nine assists.

Senior center Stephanie Kupa contributed two points, and she also had eight rebounds despite suffering a jammed knee injury early in the game.

Senior guard Melissa McNamara added nine defensive plusses to her two points, and junior forward Marcia Gemmell also notched two points.

Adding strong defensive efforts were sophomore center Carrie Green, junior guard Amy Cassidy, junior forward Erinne Sullivan and junior forward Tara Griffin.

O'Sullivan and Kattar also managed to hold Lexington's six-foot high scorer Beth Yasatis to just 10 points.

No. 13 seed Lexington, which had beaten Andover's MVC league mate Chelmsford in its tourney opener, finished the season 11-9 overall.

If Andover keeps winning it will most like-

Jacob O'Leary hit a second period free throw, but St. Augustine C had trouble generating any offense with guards Ron Hajj and Sergio Laudani not in attendance.

Ballardvale United, 21-19

BU capped the campaign with its second consecutive close win, rallying from a 12-9 halftime deficit behind Jay Harmon's game-high 9 points and strong work off the boards.

St. Augustine D had many opportunities in the second half to move ahead, but time-and-again tossed up outside bombs instead of working the ball inside.

Elvis DeLaRosa chipped in 6 points for Ballardvale, while Erik Dubasak notched two key fourth-quarter baskets and Mike Orlandella had 2 points.

Tane Crossley and Dave Pecoraro were other United standouts.

Lee Baron led the SAD attack with 7 points, Joe Hogarty had 4, Ben Huberman two free throws, Dave Huberman a field goal and Sean Casey 2 points.

Bucky Dolan added a strong all-around performance for St. Augustine D.

RECYCLING

Forget recycling white goods

By Virginia Cole

As of now, the Vining Trash Disposal people will no longer pick up what is known in the trade as "white goods," old refrigerators, sinks, stoves, washing machines, etc., that previously have been put out at the curb and taken away. The commonwealth has put a regulation on incinerators that they can no longer accept white goods and so our pickup people have no place to take them. Each of you must make your own arrangements to have the old appliance taken away when a new one is purchased or to find an organization that is looking for such things, if they still work. Don't put them out in front of your house unless you intend to plant pansies in them in the spring.

Recycling calendars are coming. The proofs have been seen and we hope all of us will have a calendar to refer to for recycling weeks, plastic Saturdays, button battery recycling directions and all the hows and whys

The Young Widows and Widowers group meets Thursdays, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., in North Andover, at the First United Methodist Church, Route 133.

It is a self-help support group for widowed men and women under the age of 50. Francyne

Fuller of Andover, a social worker, is the facilitator for the group.

Anyone who has questions can phone the group's information line at 475-5556.

RECYCLING

Forget recycling white goods

in existence now. Keep watching for them.

Some figures as provided for recycling by Waste Management show a slight drop in tonnage from January 1991 - 263 tons last year, 203 tons this year. But the number of homes participating is up - 10,404 homes last year (58.8 percent) and this January, 10,877 homes (63 percent). As these figures vary every month, we seem to be keeping about the same amounts and percentages. Obviously there are still a lot of homes to go. Don't you people who don't put out a blue bin on recycling day feel rather out of it? Bins can be picked up at the water treatment plant and then you save your newspapers, magazines and glass in them until your week to recycle. Then just put them in front of your house and you have done your bit for the environment that week.

Button batteries are still being recycled. Boxes are in many places around town, most especially in stores that sell these batteries. Public buildings have the containers too. All are picked up by members of Andover Recycling and sent for recycling. The silver and mercury in the batteries can be sold and, more important, it is not left in the trash to either go up the stack into our air or go in the ground ash to pollute ground water. Find a receptacle for button batteries that is convenient for you and don't just throw them away.

Library offers course in antiques

starting March 12.

For enrollment forms, contact the library at 51 Lawrence St., or Amherst Management, PO Box 38, Amherst N.H. 03031.

Included are sessions on all types of antiques, collectibles and collecting, plus an opportunity for students to being in items for identification and discussion.

There will be six classes Thursdays from 7 to 9 p.m.,

News deadline at the Townsmen is Monday, 5 p.m.

Easter Seal Telethon March 8

The Greater Lawrence Easter Seal Telethon Committee will appear Sunday, March 8, from 5 to 7 p.m. during the 1992 Easter Seal Telethon.

Charles Daher, president of Commonwealth Motors, is the Greater Lawrence Committee chairman. He and 12 area business leaders have been raising funds for local Easter Seal programs and will mind the phones to help raise even more to benefit men, women and children with disabilities.

Helping Easter Seals are Diane Carroll of First Eastern Mortgage Co., Andover; Ken Daher of the Daher Companies, Methuen; Jay Dubinsky of Dunkin Donuts, Lawrence; Alan Guibord of Hi-Ridge Companies, Salem; John Mordach of Holy Family Hospital, Methuen; Al Pappalardo of Marie's Crystal Loft, Salem, N.H.; Nick Scalese of Coco's in Andover; Michael Sullivan and Mary Ellen Sullivan of Sullivan Insurance in South Lawrence; Randy Lavigne of Home Pain Management Systems in Lawrence; Paul Cassidy of The Loft Restaurant in North Andover; and Frank Coady of Coady's Towing in Lawrence.

Bel-Air Upholstering and Draperies

Spring is almost here and it's a good time to spruce up your home with new slipcovers, reupholstering and window treatments. Bel-Air Upholstering and Draperies is having a special to make it easier to begin the project. They are offering 20% off on all fabrics, pleated shades, verticals and miniblinds until April 15, 1992.

Owners Reggie and Frank Purdy, can transform your furniture from its old worn-out look to a crisp and fresh new look. Working from the frame and springs outward, your chairs are rebuilt and re-covered so that the end result is a custom-crafted piece of furniture.

Reggie can help you choose fabric for new draperies, slipcovers and upholstery for your home. Whatever changes you want to make, Reggie's experience will guide you to the right choices and advise you on the latest trends.

The Purdys have been in business in Andover for 18 years. Their expertise and attention to detail and fine service have earned Bel-Air a loyal group of customers.

Window treatments of any style are not a problem at Bel-Air Upholstering and Draperies.

They can create whatever you want with draperies, Roman shades, balloons, swags or jabots. They also carry pleated fabric shades as well as mini, micro and vertical blinds in many sizes and colors.

Come into the shop for a consultation or call for free Shop-at-Home service. Bel-Air Upholstering and Draperies is conveniently located at 89 North Main St. (Route 28) in Andover. Hours are Monday through Friday 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., Saturdays and evenings by appointment. The telephone number is (508) 470-0388.

Samaritans plan an open house

The public is invited to an open house Sunday, March 1, 2-4 p.m. at the new home of the Samaritans of the Merrimack Valley, 169 East St., Methuen.

The Samaritan Center is on the second floor of a new commercial building on Route 110, less than a mile on the left from Exit 46, off Route 495, next door to The Wil-lows apartments.

Until January of this year, Samaritans headquarters were at 55 Jackson St., Lawrence.

Samaritan volunteers have operated a 24-hour telephone befriending service since April 1981. The service is available toll-free to all Merrimack Valley communities.

Samaritans of Merrimack Valley is a branch of the world-wide Befrienders International whose main purpose is to befriend the lonely, despairing and suicidal through telephone befriending.

Samaritans also run Safe Place, a support group for people who have lost loved ones through suicide, and Lifeline, a program for suicide prevention in the Middleton jail. Samaritan staff and volunteers run workshops and discussion groups and a speakers bureau to address the issue of suicide prevention.

While physically located in Greater Lawrence, the Samaritans serve the entire Merrimack Valley from Lowell to Newburyport and are supported by the United Way.

BUSINESS PROFILES

Nails by Patti

Nails by Patti offers a very private atmosphere for those times you want to pamper yourself and need a listening ear. This comfortable and unrushed time is yours to rest and reduce stress.

The appearance of hands is very important because they complete a total image. Hands are very visible and expressive. Owner Patti Morando states that nails reflect what we want them to, from conservative to original party nails. She provides qualified nail service and produces the best results possible. Patti will enable you to pamper yourself at prices that make it feasible even during this troubled economy.

Patti's specialty is pedicures. These include mud treatments with reflexology. Patti believes that if you "Take care of your feet, your feet will take care of you." She also does medicated paraffin treatments to moisturize hands.

Nails by Patti carries two of the best lines of polish, one is formaldehyde free. She has "touch-up bottles" for purse and travel.

Patti runs monthly specials that provide a savings for her clients. They encompass individual services and packages. She and her clients also have fun with occasional mystery specials. Call Patti to find out what the current monthly specials are.

Patti will attend to the nails of a complete bridal party. She offers a girls' 13th birthday special. A group of from three to five girls will learn how to care for their nails and receive a hot oil manicure, nail file, mini bottle of polish and a nail decal.

Gift certificates are available. Treat your mother, grandmother or a mother-to-be to a comfortable and relaxed service from Nails by Patti.

Patti has flexible hours to accommodate her customers. She may be reached at (508) 794-1417 Tuesdays through Saturdays. Nails by Patti is located at 200 Osgood St. in North Andover.

Recycle

DO YOU HAVE an item or items that you no longer need, but that would be useful to someone else, something you'd be willing to give away if someone would come get it? For instance: boxes, storm windows, a child's bicycle, cardboard boxes, an old set of dishes. You can list your recyclable items in the Townsman's newest classified section: "RECYCLE" (FREE of charge). It's a way to clean up your place while acknowledging the world is running out of landfill space.

Simply write us listing your recyclables and we'll print them in the paper. No phone calls please.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue and in execution of the Power of Sale contained in a certain mortgage given by Stanley Saba and Lorraine T. Saba to Merrill Lynch Equity Management, Inc., dated August 30, 1989, and recorded with Essex County (Northern District) Registry of Deeds, Book 2991, Page 41, of which mortgage the undersigned is the present holder, and in which the mortgaged premises consists of a certain parcel in Andover, numbered 70 Lovejoy Road, for breach of the conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same will be sold at Public Auction at 11:00 A.M. on the 26th day of March, 1992, at said mortgage premises in Andover, Essex County, Massachusetts, all and singular the following parcel described in said mortgage:

To wit:
The land in Andover, Essex County, Massachusetts, being shown on a plan of land entitled, "Plan of Land in Andover, Mass. as surveyed for Mary A. Edmunds", drawn by Clinton F. Goodwin, Reg. Land Surveyor, dated Oct. 1965 and recorded with Essex North District Registry of Deeds as Plan numbered 5371, being shown as Parcel "D" on said Plan.

Said parcel of land is substantially and more particularly bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a point on the Westerly side of Lovejoy Road, which point is marked by an iron pipe set in the ground at the Southeast corner of said parcel, and thence running South 66° 04' 38" West four hundred thirty-seven and thirty one-hundredths (437.30) feet by land now or formerly of one Lamb to a point marked by an iron pipe set in the ground, thence turning and running North 16° 09' 50" West one hundred fifty (150) feet along a stone wall running by land now or formerly belonging to the Town of Andover, to an iron pipe set in the ground; thence turning and running North 66° 08' 15" East four hundred forty and forty-one one-hundredths (440.41) feet by a parcel of land marked "C" on said Plan to an iron pipe set in the ground on the said Westerly side of said Lovejoy Road; thence turning and running South 14° 34' 37" East one hundred fifty (150) feet along the said Westerly side of said Lovejoy Road to the point of beginning.

Said parcel of land contains 1.50 acres of land, more or less, according to said plan.

Said sale shall be subject to all restrictions, easements, improvements, covenants, outstanding tax liens, liens, or claims in the nature of liens, existing encumbrances of record, Federal, State and Municipal taxes or tax liens, municipal betterments and easements, if any, created prior to the mortgage being foreclosed upon. Said premises shall also be sold subject to all leases and tenancies having priority over said mortgage, to tenancies or occupancies by persons on the premises now and at the time of said auction which tenancies or occupants are subject to said mortgage, to rights or claims in personal property installed by tenants or former tenants now located on the Premises, and also to all laws and ordinances, including, but not limited to, all building and zoning laws and ordinances.

TERMS OF SALE
Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000.00) shall be paid in certified or bank cashier's check by the purchaser at the time and place of sale, and the balance of the purchase price of the entire premises shall be paid by certified or bank cashier's check at the offices of Steven A. Ross, Esq., Englewood, Finks, Ross & Cohen, P.C., 55 Summer Street, Boston, Massachusetts 02110 within thirty (30) days from the date of sale. The successful bidder of the sale of the premises shall be required to sign a Memorandum of Terms of Sale containing the above terms at the Auction Sale.

Other terms to be announced at the time and place of sale.

No raise for Town Manager Stapczynski

Mr. Doherty, who served as an Army captain in Vietnam from 1966 to '68.

The $33,000 was raised in the '40s after a state law was enacted in 1942 that allowed each city and town to establish a fund for honoring returning veterans. The money has been sitting in a bank account since that time and only a portion of it has been used to build handicapped ramps at Old Town Hall, said Mr. Doherty.

The committee consulted the town's lawyer, who suggested a vote of Town Meeting would allow the committee to spend the money on the memorial, said Mr. Doherty, who is a lawyer practicing in town.

The Patriotic Committee anticipates the $33,000 to be about half the total amount needed to construct the memorial. Veterans groups in town such as the American Legion, the Disabled American Veterans and the Veterans of Foreign Wars, all donated money for architectural plans. Local architect Jane Griswold has donated some of her time and skills at a reduced rate, he said.

The plan for the memorial would involve removing the large spruce tree in the middle of Elm Square and replacing it with a 45-foot flag pole that would be lit at night. Although many people have objected to removing the spruce, Mr. Doherty said the tree is sickly and will have to come down in the near future.

"The spruce has a disease that we have treated and slowed up, but will never be able to cure. The result is that all the bottom branches for about 20 feet have been affected and have had to be cut off," said Jim Bamford, the town's forester, as well as a member of the Patriotic Committee.

The plan calls for at least five 6- to 10-foot pines to be planted in the spruce's place, he said. There is also a "disreputable looking" crab-apple tree that would have to be cut down, Mr. Doherty said.

According to Mr. Bamford, the third tree in the square, a Zelkova related to the Elm family of trees, would stay.

The plan includes encircling the flag pole with plaques representing the town's military men and women, as well as a low brick wall at the wider end of the Elm Square green.

In order to do this, the Patriotic Committee would have to remove the bulletin board on the square.

"I know a lot of people will have objections to this, but we propose to either move it near the public safety center, (police and fire station on North Main) as the fire chief suggested to me, or near Memorial Hall Library. If we put it at either of those two places, motorists going both north and south on Main Street would be able to read it. The way it faces now you can only read it if you are driving north on Main Street," Mr. Doherty said.

Mr. Doherty said the committee isn't on a rigid time table to complete the peace memorial. If veterans can get the money in April, then they will begin fundraising efforts for the remaining half of the money need.

"The other veterans' groups said they would help and maybe we could sell bricks that would go into the wall," Mr. Doherty said.

By Don Staruk

There is no raise in the proposed budget for Buzz Stapczynski, town manager, in fiscal 1993 - or any other town employee.

Mr. Stapczynski was hired June 4, 1990, at an annual salary of $75,000. A year later, on July 1, 1991, he received a $3,750 raise, to $78,750.

That is the same amount he is getting now and what is budgeted for him next year, according to William Downs, selectman.

A couple of residents asked Mr. Downs if Mr. Stapczynski was getting a raise next year because this year's budget, fiscal 1992, shows only $75,000 as the town manger's salary. Mr. Stapczynski has said no raises are in the budget for next year.

Mr. Downs explained that the raise was actually given to Mr. Stapczynski last July 1, but couldn't go in the budget as a raise before it was given to him.

Only the Board of Selectmen can give the town manager a raise, not Town Meeting. But the money to fund the raise has to be appropriated by town meeting.

Every year as long as he can remember, Mr. Downs said, the selectmen have set aside a certain amount, usually $5,000, in the "unclassified" account in the budget, so they would have money available to give the town manger a raise, should they choose to do so.

Some years they gave the entire $5,000, other times they gave only part of it. Ken Mahony, former town manger, received none of the money one year, Mr. Downs said.

Last year, the $5,000 was approved at Town Meeting and later, in May and June, selectmen Charles Wesson and Mr. Downs negotiated a raise for Mr. Stapczynski.

"He wanted the $5,000. I wouldn't give it to him," Mr. Downs said.

But since most town contracts, including police and fire, included a 5 percent raise for employees this year, the third and final year of all the contracts, the same raise was given to Mr. Stapczynski.

"If you figure it out, 5 percent of $75,000 is $3,750," Mr. Downs said.

It would be totally inappropriate to get a raise himself when he has to work with those people to whom he is not giving raises, Mr. Stapczynski said last week.
